Masconomet Turns 50

On June 9,1960, the very first class of Masconomet seniors celebrated their graduation exercises in the Henry F. Long Auditorium. On June 8th, the evening before, they attended their Senior Graduation Dance in the Masconomet cafeteria. Although many things have changed over the last 50 years, the traditions of "Senior Week" have always been exciting days for every Masconomet senior class.

In our attempts to create a fitting yearbook theme to celebrate this milestone, the 2010 Mitobo staff looked no further than our own library, where Ms. Anne Spraker generously let us borrow a copy of the very first edition of Mitobo - the title of every yearbook produced since the historic 1960 issue. We researched the book for countless hours, and have reproduced and redesigned some special components of it here in the 2010 edition.

Although the 1960 yearbook had been rebound using a blank, black cover, we found the original cover design in the 1984 yearbook, and reproduced it as accurately as we could to serve as the back cover of this book. We reworked some of the older "divider" pages, (pages that introduce different sections of the yearbook), adding some current images in an attempt to create an interesting juxtaposition of the old with the new. We even invited a member of the 1960 class, Donna Butler, in for an interview and asked for her perspective on the similarities and differences between her high school experience and the one she witnessed the day she came in to visit.

At first, there seem to be many differences between the two eras of Masconomet students: clothing, hair styles, and a strange "twenty-something" look that most, if not all, of the class of 1960 seemed to possess. However, the pride in academic achievement, athletic excellence, and a strong sense of community were evident as much back then as they are now.

Happy Birthday Masconomet! We are looking forward to another 50 years of academic, athletic and ethical excellence!

HAIL, MASCONOMET

SONG OF MASCONOMET

Hail! Masconomet,
Chieftain of old,
Come to watch o'er us;
Your namesake behold.

Your guiding wisdom
We'll keep alive.
Toward this our goal
May we earnestly strive.

Hail! Masconomet,
Alma Mater dear,
Guard you your heritage
Throughout the years.

Witness us now
As our hearts we dedicate
To honor thee,
Our own Masconomet.

(Arranged from Helen Steele's "America, Our Heritage")

Choosing the Mascot

Prior to the first ring of Masco's bell, a senior representative from each town was chosen to participate in meetings that determined some of the more subjective aspects of the new school, such as mascot, colors, and emblem. As the representative from Middleton, Butler had a unique influence on the formation of the school.

Selecting the school colors proved to be one of the more difficult tasks. The team began by trying to blend the colors of some of the different high schools that the new senior class had attended. Then they tried to mix colors found on each of the town flags. However, they feared that this system would result in an accidental bias toward one town or the other. In the end, the representatives chose two independent colors; red and white.

While the colors may have been a large debate at the time, it's a different product of their meetings that undergoes continual debate today. Masco's mascot, the Chieftain, was chosen because of Chief Masconomet, who originally sold the land on which Masco stands.

"We gave a lot of thought to the Chieftain," said Butler. "We were honoring Chief Masconomet and the tribes. We had done our research."

Today, there is occasional controversy over whether the mascot is offensive to Native American tribes. More specifically, there has been discussion about whether the images associated with the name can be construed as disrespectful.

"I don't think it's disrespectful," said Vice-Principal Joseph Czarnecki. "Politically, people think differently. To me, it's a logo."

As often as the subject may come up, students are assured that there are no immediate plans to alter the school's current nickname and mascot. Czarnecki hopes to see Masco complete the second half of a century as Chieftains.

Forming Traditions

Alumni like Butler may find the life of today's Masco seniors to be very different from the one they remember. Masco still has a dress code, but girls with skirts more than twelve inches from the ground are no longer sent home from school. With the exception of basketball players on game days, few senior boys can be seen in the hallways wearing dress shirts and ties.

The student-faculty basketball game is still organized every few years, though the participants no longer play on the backs of donkeys. Faculty Frolics has been placed in the hands of the senior class, and most students have given up walking to class in favor of taking the bus.

There are many differences between today's senior class and that of 1960, but in some respects the attitude of the graduating classes remains very much unchanged.

"We decided we were going to act out one day and call it 'Senior Day'," said Butler.

Butler and her friends organized a day in which they wore black skirts and their father's shirts to school. The administration called their parents, and every one of the participants was sent home.

"I shouldn't tell you this, but we planned it that way," said Butler. "We wanted to go to the beach. We went to Crane's and it was a wonderful day."

This action is reminiscent of the attempts made by countless Masco seniors to organize a "Senior Skip Day." Unfortunately, the current administration has had more experience with the rebellious tendencies of high school students and prepares in advance for such occurrences.

"We'll send out letters to parents sometime in the spring," said Czarnecki. "The seniors [who skipped would] have to come to school the first day of internship, or something like that."

Though almost 50 classes of students have graduated since Mitobo's first publication, the Chieftain spirit remains true to its origins.

45th Reunion

Letter from the Principal

Dear Seniors,

I hope you will look back on your high school years fondly. I must say that I have been proud to be your principal. When you entered Masconomet as freshman I can remember telling you how rapidly the four years would fly and they have. We have watched you change and grow over that period of time and I can safely say we are all pleased with your accomplishments. I am proud to call you graduates of the Masconomet Regional High School Class of 2010! You are emerging from Masco as confident, compassionate, well educated young men and women ready to face the challeges of the 21st century.

However, as learning is a lifelong process you still have a great deal to accomplish. I hope you approach the next phase of your life with the same passion and vigor that you approached high school. If you continue to do so Iam sure you will be happy and successful. Please keep in touch with us here at Masco so we know how you are doing. You have forged many ties here that should be maintained. Best wishes for a long, happy and fulfilling life. I know you are well prepared for the challenges that await you where ever you go!

Fondly,

Pamela G. Culver
High School Principal

Deborah Shapiro

For those students who have experienced Mrs. Shapiro's kind attention, it will come as no surprise that she is regarded by many of the younger teachers in the English Department as a kind of surrogate Mom. As she helps students with their work and sometimes with more personal problems, so does she provide a friendly ear to the adults at Masconomet whenever they need assistance with their teaching or with other matters.

For students and teachers alike, Mrs. Shapiro is professionally and personally approachable and is always willing to offer assistance where she can, often going well beyond what her job requires. One example of Mrs. Shapiro's willingness to provide extra help is her early morning instructional sessions for students about to take the English Advanced Placement exam. Another is that she coordinates an annual fundraiser for the Masconomet scholarship awarded to deserving seniors in memory of Lou Toth, who was a long time close friend of Mrs. Shapiro. Still another is her regular willingness to serve as a mentor to new teachers and to take on the instruction of student teachers, of which Mrs. Shapiro has had many. And, of course, it is Mrs. Shapiro who does so much to insure that the Senior Internship Program is a success year after year for so many Masconomet students.

For those students who have experienced Mrs. Shapiro's curiosity and intellectual flexibility, it will come as no surprise to learn that she was the one who first proposed that Masconomet develop an elective program for the senior year in English. Because she wants to make her teaching and our school as good as it can possibly be, she is a constant advocate for positive change. She was among the first in the English Department to employ Literary Circles and once she saw that they succeeded, quickly adapted the approach and more or less invented Writing Circles. She is constantly re-thinking the curricula in her courses, shifting titles and approaches in an effort to make the reading and writing as rich and meaningful for her students as possible.

Mrs. Shapiro started at Masconomet in the fall of 1986, and since then she been a dynamic, engaged, and productive instructor. Recently she has become a successful Advanced Placement teacher and is currently involved in a program outside Masconomet designed to help teachers in other schools succeed in the AP program. The Class of 2010 is lucky to have her and is grateful for all she has given us during our years at Masconomet

The Memory Project

The Memory Project is a unique initiative in which high school art students create portraits for children around the world who have been orphaned, abandoned, neglected, or otherwise disadvantaged. To do this, the artists receive pictures of children who are waiting for portraits. The artists then create the portraits and these are in turn delivered to the children. Photographs are taken of the children receiving the portraits and these photos are shared with the student artists - completing the circle of giving.

The goal of the project is to inspire caring, friendship, and a positive sense of self. To date, over 20,000 portraits created by student artists from the US, Canada and the UK have been created for children living all over the world. In the four years that Masconomet students have been participating in this project, we have sent portraits to Uganda, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Honduras and Romania. This year's portraits were delivered in March to children in Thailand.

Brianna Anzalone

"I founded the Memory Project in October 2004, following the advice of a man in Guatemala. Having grown up in an orphanage, this young man did not have any pictures from his earliest years or any parents to share memories of his youth. Consequently, he felt that much of his childhood had been forgotten, and he shared this feeling with a group of university students working in the orphanage. As one of the students, I was very moved by his story, and I founded the Memory Project as a nonprofit organization after returning home. Since then the project has quickly spread into schools throughout the country thanks to the help of many extraordinary teachers and students." - Ben Schumaker

Art

Department Head

Mr. Meinelt

The effectiveness of the art program at Masconomet derives from the shared belief among teachers that the traits that Winner and Hetland have found to be invaluable in high-quality art education venues are alive and well at Masconomet. The department has gained a national reputation for outstanding achievement through the accomplishments of its students and faculty. We take pride in our solid program, which not only emphasizes the making of art and the resolution of complex visual problems, but also encourages students to reflect upon and articulate about art through a thorough understanding of the elements of art and the principles of design.

Business

Department Head

Mr. Czarnecki

The Business Education Department is comprised of a small group of dedicated professionals. They believe in the personal growth of students both inside and outside the classroom. One of the goals of the department is to create the opportunity for all students in business education classes to achieve at a high level learning while presenting a vast array of technology to enhance the course curriculum. If you would like to learn for life and excel in the workforce, you need to "check" us out and join our team.

English

Department Head

Mr. Donavel

Energetic, individualistic, creative, youthful (for the most part), the high school English teachers at Masconomet are committed to the idea that the study of literature is crucial to the ethical, intellectual, and spiritual growth of young people. They believe it is in stories that human beings find guidance in the difficult task of making sense of their lives and it is in writing about stories–or writing their own stories–that people articulate their own understandings of what their lives mean. If those understandings change with time and experience, this is all the more reason to continue to read, write, and think.

Foreign Language

Department Head

Ms. Mirra

Teachers in the Foreign Language Department are serious about their instruction, enthusiastic, dedicated, positive and always available to help with the most difficult of themes. It is worth noting that teachers have sought work here because of the importance our school district has placed on foreign language study. They love sharing the culture of their language in their classrooms and even traveling with their students to fully experience their language of study.

Health

Department Head

Ms. Duros

Students must be healthy to learn to be healthy. This is the focus of the nurse and health education teachers here at Masconomet. The nurse helps young people deal with chronic and short term illnesses and injuries during the school day, so they can stay at school and learn. It is through health education that students will learn the lifelong skill of being an active participant in their own health trends and issues, and an understanding of themselves, as well as the human body, is the basis of living a healthy and happy life. High school is an exciting and difficult time of a young person's life. The nurses and health education teachers are here to help students learn, navigate and cope with these challenges as they occur.

The goal of the Math Department is to encourage all students to value mathematics, gain confidence in their own mathematical ability, become problem solvers, and use mathematics effectively to reason and communicate their thinking to others. To accomplish this, the department provides a broad range of courses with parallel offerings at both college prep and honors levels. As integral members of both the lower and upper divisions of the high school, mathematics teachers complement their efforts in the classroom by working with students as coaches of both athletic and academic teams, in addition to their daily work with students during extra help. Supplementary activities sponsored by the math department include the Architecture Fair and Engineering Day. Both of these are intended to show students the power of mathematics and to help them differentiate among multiple math-related careers. Tangentially, it is hoped that students appreciate the intersection between their academic life and the adult world.

The Music Department serves the needs of all students, offering a number of performing ensembles including: Concert Band, Wind Ensemble, Singers, Chorale, Chamber Choir, Ladies Chorale, Percussion Ensemble, Jazz Ensemble, Jazz Choir, Orchestra, and Chamber Ensembles. In addition, they provide music in support of various school activities including Pit Orchestra for the high school musical, Pep Band for the home football games, Marching Band for local parades, and vocal ensembles for community services. While Masconomet musical groups are well known throughout the school and tri town communities, they have also toured extensively both nationally as well as internationally, travelling to and performing in Washington D.C.; Orlando; Montreal; the greater London area of Great Britain; Vienna; and most recently, northern Italy. The Masconomet Music Department reflects the outstanding talents of its students, the unwavering support of our communities, and the dedication of our faculty.

Physical Education

Mr. Scarpaci

Mr. Verdaguer

To the Physical Education Department, student health is extremely important. These dedicated staff members make sure that their students not only get exercise, but have fun doing it. With classes like Project Adventure, students are challenged to work as a team to overcome obstacles. Yoga and Self Defense provide students with an education to help them live healthier. Weight Training and Aerobics allow for the creation of workout that best fits students' needs and discuss nutrition. Team Sports is also available, creating an environment for students to work together and grow not only as idividuals, but grow as a group. There is a phys. ed class for everyone at Masco, and the department is dedicated to make everyone be able to have fun and gain useful knowledge for living healthier.

Pupil Personnel Services

Teachers in the Pupil Personnel Services Department believe in their students and encourage them to believe in themselves. Students receive support with in-class assignments as well as work with us to strengthen their reading, writing, math, and study skills. We believe in success for all.

The Masconomet Science, Technology and Engineering (STE) Department draws its strength from the knowledge, talent, and dedication of its faculty. Life-long learners striving to keep pace with the rapidly expanding body of scientific knowledge and technological applications, they are committed to providing laboratory experiences that promote analytical reasoning based on empirical data. STE teachers encourage students to discuss experimental results, interpretations of those results, and connections to other concepts. These discussions enhance students' communication skills, as well as emphasize the collaborative nature of science and technology. The STE department offers a range of elective courses that build on the core science disciplines to advance students' scientific and technological literacy, which is vitally important in a rapidly changing world. Some of these course offerings are collaborations with other departments, fostering appreciation of the connections between science and other disciplines.

Faculty Survey

It seems as though Masco's teachers have always been shrouded in mystery. When asked some questions about themselves, the graduating class of 2010, and Masco, here's what we discovered:

What is the most embarrassing thing that has ever happened to you while teaching at Masco?

"I was swinging my keys on my MASCO lanyard and they flew off into a classroom across the hall. had to walk into a class full of freshmen and climb under a desk to get them." - Mr. Yutkins

"Walking out of the bathroom with my skirt tucked into my panty hose." - Anonymous

What is the weirdest thing that has ever happened to you while teaching at Masco?

"I am." - Mr. Yutkins

"[Senior] Ian Wilson set a pop tart on fire in my microwave and almost burned the school down." - Ms. Finnegan

"One day, I actually enjoyed coming to work." - Mr. Kurtz

If you were stuck in jail for one night with another teacher, who would it most likely be?

"Mr. Trevenen. If he goes, I go!" - Ms. Trevenen

"This is an odd question on so many levels" - Mr. Trevenen

"Ms. Schatzel, she's always getting into trouble." - Ms. O'Brien

"Mrs. Culver." - Mr. Cavallaro

What is your favorite comment to give on report cards?

"Should practice reading at home for pleasure... This applies to almost everyone, and it's fun!" - Mr. Yutkins

If Project Runway designed uniforms for teachers, what would it be made out of?

"Hundred Dollar Bills!" - Mr. Cavallaro

"Test papers and compositions marked with red pen and coffee stains." - Ms. Scarponi

"Pink fluffy fur!." - Ms. Samaha

"Fleece? I don't know." - Ms. O'Brien

What clique were you in as a high school student? (jock, nerd, breakdancer, etc.)

"Breakdancer? Who wrote this?" - Mr. Donavel

"Metalhead" - Mr. Yutkins

"I wouldn't call it a clique, but some called us 'band geeks.'" - Ms. Scarponi

"My clique consisted of five nerdy guys who were interested in the stage, music, and Monty Python and the Flying Circus. I didn't expect the Spanish Inquisition!" - Mr. Trevenen

The peanut-free table is to the class of 2010 as _____ is to your high school class.

"The peanut-free table..." - Ms. Swartz

"... The boy in the bubble" - Ms. Wood

What sort of activities do you partake in over the summer?

"I like to think about my students." - Mr. Donavel

"Hammock swinging." - Ms. Spraker

"The regular summer activities...you know, making cupcakes, digging up worms, building forts, and potato sack races." - Mr. Yutkins

If you could go back to high school as a student, what would you do differently?

"I'd text during classes instead of passing notes." - Mr. Cavallaro

"Go back to high school? NO GRACIAS." - Ms. Swartz

"I might try to enjoy myself a little more." - Ms. Story

What seniors would you most want your children to be like?

"Blaire Shrewsbury and Ryan Tengler." - Ms. Wood

"Mike Kelsen and Nancy Swift." - Mr. Yutkins

"Andrew Fitzgerald." - Mr. Cavallaro

Do you wish that they would reinstate corporal punishment into the school system?

"No comment." - Ms. Swartz

"Sometimes, yes. But I would worry about student retaliation." - Ms. Story

"No, for the same reason I don't want my doctor to bleed me or use leeches." - Mr. Treveven

If you taught in the old building, what do you miss most about it?

"Two things I miss most about the old building: the beautiful views from all the rooms and a heating system that was controlled by a person." - Señor Pierce

"I miss the common teachers' room where we all got together." - Ms. Reyes

"I miss the rain barrels in the hallways." - Mr. Donavel

If you could bring anything back from one decade, what would it be, and from what decade?

"Big fancy dresses from the Victoran age. I think I used to be royalty!" - Ms. Wood

"Vernor's ginger-ale from the 1950s and 1960s. It was a victim of corporate takeovers in the 1980s and has never been the same since. Grrrr! When my dad was a boy in Detroit he would go to the bottling plant where you could watch it being bottled, and then to the ice cream parlor next door to have it served plain or with ice cream as a float. My uncle from Detroit would bring us cases of it when he visited us. A favorite treat!" - Ms. Spraker

"My waistline from the 70s. Just kidding... Don't print that one." - Anonymous

What's one thing no one knows about you from high school?

Freshman-Sophomore Semi-Formal

Underclassmen years are filled with stress and awkward moments. But at the annual semi-formal, everyone gets to let loose and have a great time. This year, excitement erupted when the fire alarm went off and the students had to evacuate the building. "It was a real success, I think it was the best semi we could have asked for," said freshman class officer Rachel Shamon. It was a a great last semi for the sophomores and made the freshman very excited for next year.

"Your dedication to the class of 2010 makes you an amazing advisor, and your cooking skills make you a better friend. Thank you so much.

Dear Señor,

These past three years have been successful because of your constant dedication and support to the class of 2010. We have worked so closely to have a great high school experience and ended up forming the best relationships with you and everyone in our class. You are truly unlike any teacher at Masco and it's your love for proper speech and amazing cooking skills that made our experience that much better. We cannot thank you enough for your guidance, because we honestly could not have done it without you. You made these years as class officers the best for us. Thank you for everything you have done.

Senior holiday DANCE

December means Christmas, Chanukah, and Kwanzaa for the majority of the tri town. To the seniors at Masco, it is time to celebrate the holidays and have one last formal dance before prom. Decorated sweaters from the past, winter dresses, and even Santa Clause (played by Nick Frey) made an appearance at this year's Holiday Dance. "It was great to see everyone together, having a great time before we went on break," said senior Michael Keenan. With DJs Justin Rice and Jamaica Siwak from WBMT, and tickets nearly sold out, it was a true success and a great night for the class of 2010!

SENIOR halloween DANCE

This year's senior class took advantage of a Wednesday off from school by holding their annual Halloween Dance on a Tuesday night. The upperclassmen gathered in the cafeteria for an evening of costumes and dancing, which culminated in the selection of costume winners. Highlights included group costumes like "The Hundred Acre Wood" and "Human Tetris."

In front of us we have "A whole new world, a new fantastic point of view, no one to tell us no or where to go, or say we're only dreaming" Congrats Class of 2010! Mom and Dad: Thank you for always believing in me, pushing me to be the best I can be, and for teaching me to dance like no ones watching. To my sisters: Ashley, for being the big sister everyone wishes they had, one that I will always look up to. Lindsay, just three years left! Make it the best because it goes by fast. Allie, just be yourself and keep lighting up the stage! Heather, B. Davis, my fourth sister, too much to write and not enough space: call on me! will you get me a spoon? rico, oth, lists, g2. I would not be who I am without you as my sister. Alessandra, without the emo pants back in seventh grade, we would never have met, and my life wouldn't be the same. Alayna, all the movies that we snuck dinners into, one of these times we're gonna get caught! Movie group, what can I say? We've had some great times that no matter what, we have to continue. Media Family, I will miss you all. Keep making mems! Lunch tables, these past four years would not have been the same without you! Thanks for always being there no matter what. Relay, track, hp parties, disney parties, movie nights, just non stop laughs that I'll never forget. Good luck with everything in the future and I'll miss every one of you.

Mom and Dad: thank you so much for everything these past 4 years, especially making my lunch and driving me back and forth to school
Ryan: good luck in your last two years of high school! Keep your grades up so Mom and Dad don't get on you.
Keetie: Thank you for being the bestest friend I could ever ask for and for always being here for me. Good luck senior year, take care of Our Ishkabible. Shoe String Chicken Buddy!
Rebecca and Emily: Oh look, there's a duck in the courtyard, how'd it get there? Ducks don't fly!
Alessandra: There's too many. It smells like clowns. Spanish sucks. Thanks for the laughs.
PEI: we weren't ready to leave the country, what were we thinking? Klub Soda, are you kidding me?!
Fancy: Thanks for all the free food and carting my sorry butt around. Tarzan is by far the best!
Track: Thanks for the nerds.
To everyone else, you know who you are, thank you for getting me through high school, I'll never forget!

Family: Mom and Dad thanks for the long leash and the never-ending support. You two are the best parents imaginable, seriously. Sam I remember reading your senior square as an 8th grader. I took your advice and had the time of my life—thanks. Sarah my triplet! Your sensibility and level headedness never fails to keep me in check, thanks for always keeping me in check. Brian sorry about the clothes in the bathtub, but you're welcome for the college essay. I don't know what I'm going to do next year without my nightly homework distraction/human mirror. Friends: if you know who LL, MC, Da Huudge, Karen, and the Preppy Tennis Buddies are, and why trash day in Beverly, Angus beef, Kiss 108, Al Pacino's cash, the sinking ship, and Fire Inc. are so awesome, then this is for you. I had the time of my life and owe it to all y'all. Best of luck,

Mom and Dad Thank you. You both have made high school more enjoyable than I could have ever imagined. Sam Thank you for showing me a good time these last few years, its been great. Sarah I hate the idea of not being able to see you so easily next year. You're a great sister and I love you. Andrew Thanks for throwing my clothes in the bathtub. After 18 years together it is hard to think we will no longer see each other every day. Good luck, I will miss you. Friends You all have made these last four years awesome. From the pool house to the "Death Star" to "the Basement" we have had some pretty good times together. You guys make the weekend worth the wait. Thank you.

Seniors '10... It's finally over. Mom and Dad and Kathleen- Thanks for being there for me and putting up with my crazy shenanigans. I love you alll To all my amazing yet disastrous friends- You know who you are. You guys have truly made high school worthwhile. Remember chair wars of '09, lorge gopez, midnight premiers, fists of steel, halloween festivities, jam sessions, and the beloved basement. Twinny Twin Twin- Many waters cannot quench love, smude, happy valentine's day to me, velociraptor noise, the holy grail, bus buddy, and telepathic powers. Spiritual Guru- you are absolutely amazing, these moments prove it: Papa Squat, tarot, blink 182 obsession, weak ankles, 27 Dresses, and family dinners. Fiancée- my little light is not so bright, cookie dough, MIKE, the invention of mon, and adventures in the death star. Forever and always, my dearest love. Unfavorite Twin- From Italy to waddle, prom, Christmas, Janis Joplin, firepit, Halloween, For Good, and hope. Thank you, I love you. Husband- Our shotgun wedding in Vegas, my friend Holly, our forced duet, and car conversations. Love love love. Mr. O- Thank you for everything you've done for me, you've inspired me and got me through high school alive. Shout out to Treblemakers and Chamber Girls- JOY, snicker snacks, blow upon my garden, and star wars. Good luck next year, you're all wonderful! Masco, it's been real and I thank all of those who helped me get to where I am. "Choose your future. Choose life".

I never thought that four years could go by so quick, but when they say time flys, they really do mean it. These four years have been the best years of my life so far, and I owe it all to my family and friends, cause I can't imagine life without them.
Mom and Dad: I really don't know where I would be without you, thanks for making me into the fine young man I am and thanks for the numerous life lessons you have taught me. Thanks for being chill and not too strict most of the time, because that's what helped make these four years awesome.
Friends: I honestly don't think I can describe the amount of fun that I've had with you guys throughout highschool. There's way too many ridiculous shinanigans to write in this tiny little box. Too many memories to write. Alot of the times we just sat around doing absolutely nothing trying to find something to do and in the end we failed, but that doesn't matter because the times we did have were the most fun and memorable. Highschool withaut you guys would have absolutely sucked. Thanks for making these four years the most fun I've ever had. Keep in touch, we'll all chill during college vacations. N-Squad 4 Life.
Mike: I miss you more than you can imagine dude. I miss seeing the yellow GTO come around the corner in the morning (Usually at 7:25 lmao we were always late) I miss going to dunks, playing rockband, making coffee at your house, your barn parties, going to tea garden, complaining to you about how I don't have a car (hopefully I'll have one before New Year's, we'll see ahha), sitting at your house with nothing to do, and going with you to every store in the mall because you were so desperate to get a job lmao. There's so many more but it would take the entire grades worth of senior squares to fit them all. You better be riding hard up there dude, that 450 rips. Rest In Peace buddy, I'll never forget you.

See yo later Class of 2010, because afterall, it's really not goodbye.

Kath – I can't explain how much I appreciate you, next time stick around for another two years. Memories at the dinner table, upstairs, and ridin around in pheebs. Pound it. Blow it up. Bring it back. loves you
Mom and Dad [Parental Unit] – you guys are the best, thanks so much for the dinners, extensive car rides, getting me out of the house in the summer, and always encouraging me academically, love you guys
Mrs. Fowler – Thank you for always being understanding of broken lights, a torn up front yard, and another kid in your house
Friends – You have all contributed to a fantastic four years at Masco.
Masco XC – Our pace was immeasurable
Bros – Masco would be empty without you. Keeping me easily amused and humble, and wherever we all end up, I hope we keep in touch. I don't know what I will do without the witty comments I have come to live by, and without my several semi-parents.

Class of 2010! Mom & Dad: Thank you for always believing in me, and always being there for me. Camille: seriously you are my best friend and better than any sister I could imagine, she's the man, will and grace a thons. Love you Sill* Kristen: we always have so much fun together, but alls we do is eat and talk. Thank you so much for all the advice you have given me. I'm gonna miss us being weird and crazy! Emily: from the day you pushed me into paz's pool I have been scared of you, but I still love you! I will miss our mean humor and our dead arm fights. Lauren: we have gotten so close the past year and we can talk about everything! thank you. Olivia: since the first day of preschool we have always been there for each other. Sissey, is it 16 years now? Jess: since I met you in fourth grade we have been friends, thanks for all the long chats about everything!

"Musicians do not have to be believed in. We do not have to be trusted. Our music speaks for itself without the listener having to know anything about us. Music touches people's emotions in a way nothing else can."

Its pretty hard to believe how much change has happened in my life in 4 short years. Nick: You have been such a good friend to me in times of confusion and hardship. Thank you for being a life inspiration as well as a musical one. I'm sure we'll see each other on stage one day. Colby: Thank you for being everything I ever needed you to be. The triangle will go far past Masco, as well as our music. Keep playing with emotion, it could bring you so far. Lydia: Thanks for being one of my best friends. You add so much fun and excitement to my life. Here's to all the fun times we had, and will have! 'Cause if your not having fun...its just a big waste of time! :-p Amy: From the day we met till today and past, you have made my life so unique, and deep, and wonderful. You inspire me every day and make me want to dig as deep into my soul as I can. Thank you for letting me be myself. Music: Thank you for being everything to me, and thank you for letting me into your world. I am yours forever. To all my other friends, thank you for letting me be myself, and encouraging me with all I do, and the music I play. I love you all. Mr O'keefe, Gray, Brockelbank, Ocock-Thank you all for giving me the drive to become a better musician, and allowing me to explore so many different worlds of music. I will never forget you. Hope to play with you all one day!

To my family: I want to thank you mom and dad for putting up with me for so long as well as supporting me and guiding me every step of the way.
To my friends: Once again I want to thank all you guys for putting up with me. You guys always kept me going and made for some excellent times that I can never forget....N-Squad 4 life.
Hockey: Man we had some brutal practices and games but at the end of the day the thing that always made me want to come back and play were the players. You guys made the game fun and I enjoyed every moment of it and more importantly Sean and last year Stefan made the rides back and forth almost even better.
Kiley: Thanks for being there with me through the good times and the bad. You always knew how to make me smile and made the last two years awesome.

"What now will you follow?
Who now will you follow?"

Mike is at his happiest when he with his family and friends. Always smiling and keeping things light-hearted with a good laugh or a quick line. His loves are racing Motocross on his Kawasakis, training hard at the gym, cruising in his yellow G.T.O., playing his guitars, enjoying the warm weather, going to concerts, and listening to his favorite tunes.

He lives his life with peace, love, and laughter. He is very caring to all of his friends, and to people he would just meet. He will help out anyone who asks for his assistance, no matter how big or small.

Mike truly cares for all.

To all those who have been involved in my life over the years, I would like to thank you for all the love and support. To my friends, there are none better in the world, you've all been great. From the classrooms to the locker rooms, I've had many great memories. To my teachers and coaches, you have all benefited me and truly have educated me to the person I am today. To my brothers, we have our differences, but I couldn't ask for better than you two. I will always love you guys and nothing can change that. And finally, to the greatest parents a son could ask for. Without my loving mother, I'd be lost with the feeling of emptiness, not only in my stomach, but in my heart. And without my father, I wouldn't be the man I am today. You have shown me the true definition of a man. Hard work, sacrifice, toughness and love for his family. You have both sacrificed so much for me and there is no possible way for me to truly thank you. But I love you and I do appreciate all that you do for me even when I don't show it.

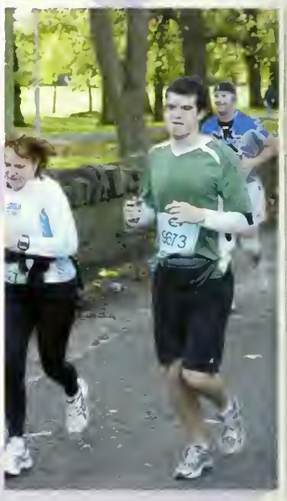
Senior Spotlight

A section dedicated to highlighting special accomplishments and members of the class of 2010



If all goes accordingly, Ryan Madden, a senior cross country captain, will be the youngest person to run a marathon on each continent of the world. By March of 2011, Ryan will have completed seven marathons on seven different continents. He ran his first, the Dublin Marathon, on October 26, 2009. "It was so hard," said Ryan. "Nothing I could have done would have prepared me for that, but I had my Dad there and I knew my family was watching."

Sponsored by Chandler Candice and the Glaucoma Research Foundation, Ryan will also attempt to raise his ultimate goal of $25,000. "It's a lot of money. We just sort of set a high number. I'm doing everything I can to get there."

Accepting donations and gifts from followers and friends, Ryan has also been maintaining a Twitter account where many other "fans" have been supporting him. He has achieved relative stardom through this unbelievable task and has tweeted with Kim Kardashian, gained a possible appearance on "The Ellen DeGeneres Show", and may be featured on the CBS Sunday News. All of this Hollywood talk has thrown Ryan into the country's spotlight; he will hopefully be able to fit in his schoolwork and other teenage tasks in between his marathons.

Ryan traveled to Seoul, South Korea for the Seoul International Marathon on March 21, 2010. He will soon head to the Gold Coast Marathon on July 4, 2010. Then, only 14 days after his marathon in Australia, Ryan will be running in the Rio de Janeiro Marathon on July 18, 2010. After a month or two of recovery time, he will enter into the Casablanca Marathon in Morocco on October 24, 2010. Ryan will face his most daunting task in March of 2011: running a marathon on Antarctica. "I'm going on a cruise to Antarctica," explained Ryan. "The ship is going to stop for a day and I'll run the marathon that day. I'm hoping [the cruise] will distract me from the fact that I am going to be running a marathon in Antarctica…"

Finally, after 157.2 miles, Ryan will hopefully complete his last marathon in Boston. "I hope that my last marathon will be the Boston Marathon. It'd be cool to end at home."

Ryan's first race took place in Dublin, Ireland. He crossed the finish line at four hours 43 minutes and 48 seconds (4.43.48), and "it was probably the hardest thing ever." He still has six more marathons to run, but hopefully he will successfully complete his world record task and appear in the Guinness Book of World Records.

He will be youngest person ever to run a marathon on every continent - Raising money for the Glaucoma Research Foundation - Creator and President of the Business Club - Captain of Boys XC, Indoor Track, and Outdoor Track

Mom and Dad- You have made me everything that I am today. I don't know who I would be or where I would be without your inspiration, guidance and love. Don't ever second guess how much I care about you both. Joey- You are my younger brother but I still look up to you, literally. You keep me safe like an older brother would and you drive me crazy, but you have a lot going for you! Study hard and you'll do great in high school. Don't be a "lard". Friends- Some old and some new. I wish I knew you all from the beginning. You are all amazing people and the times we have are priceless. There is not enough space in this box to express how much you all mean to me. We will stay close forever! Mike- You are a great guy. You have been there for me through it all and have never let me down. I love that we get each other no matter what. MGS- You girls are like a bra, close to my heart and there for support. Despite my injury you guys kept me alive. Good luck next season. Aztec<3- My second family. You girls are everything to me. Play hard in college.

Mom and Dad, thank you for helping me to prepare for college. Michael thank you for always looking out for me. Steven, you are weird and crazy but you are a great little brother. Make sure you stick to shots of milk and Gatorade! Sheila and Camille, I love you both so much and I honestly don't know how I could have finished high school without you guys. There are way too many stupid hilarious memories to choose just one but I am so glad we are friends. You both have helped me so much this year. Thank you for always putting up with my dumbness. Lauren, we have been friends since before we could walk, you always keep me laughing. Emily, we have been friends forever and we never fight so let's keep it that way! Alexa, I am so glad we are still friends even though when I met you sophomore year you always used to say if we are still friends... but we are so that's good. Lucy, I'm happy we became out of school friends and we had so many good times with Mr. Hartan and we made the best awkward moments. Nicole and Taylor, I love you guys and will miss you tons when I go to college! I will come back to finally drive you guys places. Taylor sausage mcmuffin, good luck next year and try not to miss me too much. I love you and there is never a boring moment with you. Ellen, Thank you for everything you have done for me. I don't even know where to begin, you are like a big sister to me. Love you dance etc girls

Is it possible to sum up a high school experience in a 3.75" x 2.5" square?

I have learned so much during these past four years. Every single person I've come in contact with has shaped me into the person who I am.

To acquaintances, strangers, teachers, advisors, and, most of all, my friends and family:
Thank you.

Best of luck to the class of 2010 and Masco's upcoming seniors!

Mom and Dad- Thanks for always pushing me and staying with me through the good and the bad. I know you'll always be there for me and I'm so thankful. I love you both

My Brothers- Scott, so many good times! Although we may have our differences, we have become so close these past few years. Late night discussions with you have always been my favorite, you are someone I can always count on. And Charlie, you are my best little brother. For every year you grow, I realize how lucky I am to have you. I love you both more than anything, good luck finishing up at Masco!

Emily- Best neighbor for life! And I promise, Scott and Eliza ARE getting married. I'll most defiantly see you at the wedding ☺

Julie- Best buds since 2nd grade. From laughs to tears, we've literally been through it all, I couldn't have made it through without you!

Liz and Katie- WAY too many things to say... unfortunately they are all too inappropriate for the yearbook! You girls will always make me smile, from LLJCC to being blindfolded in the parking lot at Macy's. Thank you so much for the good times, love you both.

Kevin- Thank you for always being there.

All those years of thinking we'd be stuck going in circles forever at Masco are gone. But it's not the end. Now we go out to find our own ways in the world. There are so many people to thank for getting me this far. To my friends, who are way too numerous to list. Each and every one of you holds a very special place in my heart and I will love you all forever. Mum. What can I say? You are my inspiration, my friend, my rock, but above all my mom and I love you for all of it. Daddy I'm sorry I couldn't keep my promise to you to not grow up, but I'll always be your one and only little girl. Zach As far as older brothers go, I couldn't have asked for better. Dylan If you think high school's going by fast now, just wait until you're a senior. Good luck Class of 2010!

Mom & Dad-Thanks for supporting me all these years. You've given me every opportunity I could ever want.
Jack-It's been great having you a year behind me in school, even if I didn't always admit it. Enjoy you senior year, defiantly the best year yet.
Sam-Enjoy high school. You have big shoes to fill here. Have fun and stay good.
Andrew-You've been a great friend over the years. From the Merrimack River to the Caribbean Sea, I think we've seen it all.
Brian-Form meatballs and pizza from Nebo that weekend to the tower of buttermilk onion rings, we've pretty much conquered every meal. And some great times along the way.
Rachel-Trampeding up the stairs from lunch at exactly 1:20 pm has been awesome.
Courtney-I'll always remember us having in-depth discussions about D-Walsh's tests and MC latest stories at lunch.
April-We will make it on TFLN, since we're so HL, and maybe a certain someone stop texting us.

Mom & Dad: Thank you so much for guiding me through all four years of high school. Although sometimes I was not always the easiest person to get along with, I now understand that everything you guys did for me was in my best interest. You two are a huge reason of why my grades turned around for my last two years. I love you mom and dad, thank you so much for everything that you have done for me.
Greg: Thank you for being a great older brother. I am only one year behind you. I have always wanted to be like you, even when we were little kids. I know that I can tell you anything. You are an amazing person. I love you so much, and I am looking forward to maybe going to the same college as you next year.
Adam: What can I say about you? You are simply an amazing person. You are my best friend. You make me extremely happy and there is never a day that goes by that I don't think about you. You are always there for me and I will always be there for you. I love you* 2.13.09 forever

November 30th, 2009

Today I sat down to write my senior square.
It's weird to think that I'm leaving Masco in six months after being here for so long.
All I can really think to say is that I've basically had a good time here.
Thank you to my parents, my teachers, Mr. Czarnecki!!, WBMT, and most importantly, my friends for putting up with my antics and helping me get through in one piece.

Class of 2010, float on.

Mom & Dad- Thank you for all your love and support through these years. I wouldn't have made it through without you guys. I love you.
Emily-I don't know where I would be without you. You've taught me so much I'd be lost without you. Love you so much.
Jon-You've inspired to accomplish all that I have and so much more. Thank you. I love you.
Sam-You've been my best friend and a sister to me through these years. You've kept me sane and I definitely wouldn't be here without you. Love you Skeeter!!
Zach-These past few years have been hard and I'm happy you've been here by my side. You're my best friend and much more. I love you.

Mom, thanks for everything you have done for me my entire life. I honestly would not be who I am today if not for you. Thanks for always being there for me whenever I need you. I love you. Jeff, for the past few years the advice that you have given me has helped me immensely. Thanks for everything. Rachael, you have three years left in high school. So have a lot of fun, but work hard too. You have all the potential in the world so use these years to take advantage of it. And remember those years are going to fly by, so make them ones you'll remember. To all my friends, you guys are what helped to make high school a really awesome, fun time. I don't think I would have been able to have survived through the past few years without all of you. I love you all

Molli McGee

Surfing has been a significant part of Molli McGee's life since she was 11 years old. Born in Sea Isle City, New Jersey, she has spent many days relaxing on the 82nd street beach in South Jersey. Current photographers of Transworld Surf Magazine introduced surfing into Molli's life. They opened a new world to Molli filled with passion and thrill. She has not just added surfing to her repertoire of hobbies; she has taken on a lifestyle unique and rare in our society. While she surfs year round, you can also find her cruising the pavement on a longboard or shredding the slopes on a snowboard. Apart from sports, Molli is a music enthusiast and has played guitar since she was 13. She recently recorded studio work, but she mostly enjoys sitting by the beach and "serenading all the guys that walk by." Molli plans to join a surf team in college, and hopes that her search for waves takes her around the world. Someday we may see Molli in a magazine, or we may find her strumming her guitar on the beach. As long as she's near the water, Molli will be happy.

Erika Aldeborgh

Humans were not put on this earth to fly; yet people like Erika Aldeborgh touch the sky everyday. Erika is a senior at Masco, and a pilot. She started flying at age 15, during one of the countless summers she has spent on Martha's Vineyard. She began as a waitress at a diner near the landing spot, but the grassy runways of the airfield soon became her stepping-stone to the sanctuary of the sky.

"My favorite thing about flying is that it never loses the thrill," said Erika. "Once I'm in the air, I still can't believe what I'm doing."

The path towards a full pilot's license is a long one. Erika has had three years of flying experience and yet she still has only a student license. She has logged more than 40 hours of in-flight time, completed during her lessons throughout the summer. Her training has included hours of practicing, observing, and soaring. She has completed multiple solo flights reaching altitudes of 3,500 feet, and has had to participate in numerous emergency drills. One lesson included a test in which Erika had to cut the engine of her plane, and aim it straight up to the sky. While the plane began to spin rapidly toward the ground, she found a way to recover it and land safely back on earth.

"It's so scary when I fly alone," said Erika. "I know the only way I can get back down to the ground is if I land the plane myself. The thought is really scary, but it's exhilarating."

Next summer, Erika plans to fly cross-country alone, twice, in order to qualify for her private license. She will need to fly at least 50 miles to another airport and land. With this experience in mind, Erika is considering a future career as a commercial pilot, or perhaps focus on private charters. Either way, she knows that there is a future for her among the clouds, and is excited to see where her wings will take her.

MOM & DAD- Thank you for always putting us first and for being proud of me no matter what happens. Your unconditional love, support and guidance has made me the young woman I am. I appreciate all that you two do for me. I love you guys.
SCOTTIE- Thanks for giving me someone great to look up to. I am so glad that as we've gotten older, we've gotten closer. You have taught me a lot about life and I am very grateful for that.
JOHNNY- Take advantage of every opportunity presented to you in life & keep smiling. I can't wait to see you grow up. Hold down the forts for me, pal. I am always there for you.
& to the rest of my family- I am so thankful for having such an amazing group of people supporting me in my life. I love you all.

To all of the great friends I have made thus far along the way, thanks for the memories and for all that I have learned from you.
KENZ- Total opposites but we have NEVER stopped loving each other. Thanks for showing me the way. I don't know what I will do without you making me laugh like I do every day.
KELS- Twinsies, so much fun with you. Thanks for everything. There aren't as many people that can make me smile as much as you do. You just get me and I love you for that. FuN GIRIZ$ fa eva SHEIL- Since the first day of preschool... love you so much.
MEL- Thanks for showing me how to live. I wish we started this whole friend thing earlier. No one will ever know. chawcklaaate.
FREXCHANGE Crew- Heineeee, Mare & Cheryl ♥ : what age gap?
MFH Ladies - I've never worked or laughed so hard with another group of people. You girls are forever my family. Good luck!
To all of my teachers & coaches- Thank you for always pushing me and believing in me. I will always remember your guidance.

I'll do my best not to be cliché. "Thank you" to you. (You all know who you are.) My only regret for my time at Masco is that I was not able to know everyone in the Class of 2010. The Class of 2010 is by far the best class to ever grace the halls of Masco. I know that each one of you will break out of this two star town, and succeed at whatever your future plans are.
To those that will be at Masco next year, I didn't know as many of you as I should of either. (Another regret.) You will soon be a senior moving on to bigger things as well, but make the most of the time you have left. When that time is gone, it's gone forever. If there is something you do not like about Masco, there is still time for you to change it. Masco is whatever you make it. Anyone reading this, thank you, always smile like you mean it and have no regrets.

MOM+DAD: I couldn't have asked for two better parents! You were always there for me whenever I needed you and I am truly blessed to have been given so much over the years. I love you! <3
MOLLY: I know you'll miss me poking you in the hallways now. I hope my little mini-me isn't too horrible to you. Bake me lots of goodies!
MAGGIE: I hope you have clothes to wear once I take mine with me! FDZ! I better be seeing you at Worlds in Boston 2013!! BOBBY: Don't let Margaret be too mean to you! Don't fill my room with your legos once I leave or you'll be sorry! ☺
EMILY: Emma-lemma-lee! Your in charge now, keep everyone in line at home! I hope you will write me long letters now that you're a pro at writing.
FRIENDS: SO many good times together (SUPER duper), baking CELL cakes, RELAY for life, middle school peer leading, eating PIE, CHIPMUNK dances, SCARY movies, concerts, sledding, trying on MEN'S CLOTHING, kayaking and the CAPE with my wannabe sister, birthday parties in Boston, and Chinese COOKIES, RUNNING through Topsfield 'everyday', and Weekend Extravaganzas, and etc. I wouldn't have made it through high school without you guys there to make it so much more fun!

Congratulations Class of 2010!

Mom & Dad: I wouldn't be who I am today without the love and support you've given me. I love you both more than I can say in this square. Jake: Don't let mom catch you sneaking out at 3 in the morning but call me if she does. Krista: You're my partner in crime and always will be. I love you two and am going to miss all the goofy things we do. Devon: You've been my best friend since I can remember and it better stay that way, always. Kristen: You're tons of fun, I'm so happy we became close this year, p.s. it's high school. Morgan: We've had our ups and downs but in the end I know we'll still be close. Bailey: Have a crazy senior year, you're an amazing friend. Kendal: Love you, it's that simple. Justin: It's irresistible and inevitable,I hope your vertical asymptote is always up. Thank you for everything, it wouldn't have been as good without you.
MGS: The best team I've ever been on, I'll definitely miss all of you,especially that last bus ride home <3

From freshman year to now, from raspberry sherbert to late night cookie dough, from tp-ing to egging, from dancing to singing, from laughing to crying, I don't regret any of it. So thank you, everyone, for all those unforgettable experiences and even better memories, good luck & make the best of it.

Robin - Good luck in high school. I'm sure you'll have fun.
Laura - Love you. You're like a sister to me. We've had good times even during the bad times.
Jessie - There isn't enough space in this square for you.
Nicole - Nickle, Nickle, Nickle. Too many fun times. I'll miss you.
Sheila - We have been friends for so long. Bus buddies haha. Too many memories.
Kayla - Anatomy and Math were way better because of you. I'll miss you but we'll stay close in college.
Conor - You have made my life so much better. I love you.
To my lunch table: love you guys to death. Lunch was always the best part of my day.

Senior Year...

What can I say that hasn't been already blogged or Facebooked?

Thank you to everyone who's been my friend, and also to people who haven't actively disliked me. I appreciate it. Everyone else.. well, I'd get censored anyway. Check Facebook

Devin—You've always been my best friend.

Good luck at OSU

Dan—You're too smart for your own good

But I forgive you for it.

I wish I had more room, but who doesn't want to look at my awesome picture?

And Michelle...well, you know what I have to say. And that's all that really ever mattered

Mom and Dad you both have been there for me for my whole life! Through the ups and the downs. We have had many laughs and more to come! You both are amazing parents and nothing will ever change! Ben- You are an incredible athlete and keep following your dreams! Even though we fight, I couldn't ask for a better brother than you with many jokes and memories. Enjoy your last two years at Masco and I'll always be here for you. Rebecca Where do I begin?! You have been an amazing friend for these many years and we have so many great inside jokes!! Our handshake, funny words, playing cards, traveling, camp P.O.L and so much more. These memories will last a life time even when we are old. We will be the old ladies in the nursing home racing around in our hovercrafts! So don't you EVER change for anyone! Stay the person that you are have fun in college, I know we will still see each other and I'll see you in Med School!!! Patrick, Emily, and Bev too. You guys are awesome "cousins". Whenever we are together no matter where we are, we have a great time! I'll never forget the games we used to play, bean bag tag, dark tag, star light moon light… And going out to eat at Denny's and eating sweet and low! And Bugaboo Creek with the lemons! Going up to Maine on Memorial and Labor days. Kelsey-riding through the years has been spectacular! Falling off and chase me Charlie and baking days! Have fun at UVM! Meagan - you're a looger! Bio so far has been fun with many laughs! That's a system! And that was short lived. Oooo Tough Guy!And dancing on Saturday mornings! RD, PC, EC, KG, RA, NS, LC MA, MM, LM, KW, CT, AM, MT

To all the teachers who helped make high school the best four years of my life, thank you. From Chemistry with Mrs. Lund, to Project Adventure with Mr. O'Berra, there has never been a dull moment during my stay here at Masco.

To my friends, thanks for being along side me to enjoy the ride. Thanks to my band mates, for helping me become a great musician, and conquer my stage fright.

Thanks to my parents, for giving me everything I have today, without you guys working hard, I would have nothing.

Serino & Dr. Emmons- I wouldn't be the person I am today without you, thanks for everything. Good luck next year.
The Neighbors- My second family. You guys rock! Can't wait for all the fun times we still have ahead of us.
My Friends: You guys made these four year. I've made so many new friends, and hopefully will keep in touch with a lot of you. Remember all the good times we had, I wish we had more time together.

Joe P.

Mom+Dad- I really can't thank you guys enough for all that you've done for me. You've given me the best shot at life I could have and have always loved and supported me, even when I was difficult.
Joe- Despite our constant (fun) battles, you are an amazing brother and I wouldn't change anything and I promise not do deny your existence in college ☺
Friends-"High school is a team sport" Way too many of you to list, you all know who you are. I've had so many amazing times with all of you, and none of you will ever be forgotten.
Laura- You have truly changed my life. It has been an absolute privilege to have you in my life for these almost 2 years. The times and moments we have shared are ours forever and nothing will ever change that.
Soccer- Thank you serino, the russo(s), and everyone else! Always continue the tradition!

Wow, it's the end of senior year already! It has been a fun and exciting 4 years here at Masco. I've learned a lot, both academically and non-academically. I have also created many new friend ships and have taken many exciting classes and also many that sucked too. I visited France junior year which was a very interesting experience and I discovered the most catchy song entitled "Ça M'énerve" by Helmut Fritz. Sophomore year I started to fall in love with running and joined the track team and I have improved so much since then. Now for all this I thank my mom & dad for giving me life and the opportunities I have. Ryan & Dustin, you've taught me various life lessons I won't forget. Madrinha & Padrinho, you guys are awesome and could never find any better god parents than you. Para os meus avos, eu aprecio o vosso trabalho e obrigado por terem deixado os Açores para me dar uma oportunidade melhor na America. To the Masco class of 2010 as well, I could not pick a better group of people to be in the same class with me and wish you all the best, and now off to COLLEGE!!!

Zach Fox

In every Microsoft Word program in every computer in every household in America, there lives a small individual, in the shape of a paper clip. The paperclips, cruelly named Clippy, exist to provide assistance to first-time users of Word. They will appear at a moment's notice, armed with vast knowledge of font sizes and print layouts. The paperclips are not confined to the world of Word. They can be found within PowerPoint, Excel, and Outlook. At one time, there was even a Clippy living within Photoshop.

This paperclip was different from the others. Unlike Word, which is easily understood by all but the most inept (elderly) clients, Photoshop is a program that often takes considerable practice to master.

There was one photographer in particular who was completely enamored by the lessons taught by his Photoshop paperclip. He loved it so much that he prayed to Aphrodite, and asked that she bring Clippy to life, just as she had brought to life Pygmalion's statue. Aphrodite, who pitied the paperclip for having to deal with the ignorance of the photographer, agreed. Along with life, she gave the paperclip an identity and the opportunity to seek a life outside of Photoshop.

Today, the paperclip goes by the name of Zach Fox. Though Clippy/Zach has found a way to live his life away from the influence of the photographer (he can play four instruments), he has not lost his love of Photoshop. In his short 17 years, Zach has built more than ten computers, and is always available to share his expertise with friends. He spends his days after school editing pictures for a photography studio, and can usually be found wandering about the mac lab; an endless pile of unedited photos in hand.

Nick Mykulowycz

When Nick Mykulowycz was seven years old, he disassembled his favorite toy fire truck. "It worked perfectly fine, but I wanted to find out why," he explained. "So I took it apart." Since that day with the fire truck, not much has changed about Nick's attitude toward his favorite possessions. Armed with an insatiable curiosity and a growing knowledge of mechanical engineering, Nick has spent countless hours destroying and rebuilding everything from computers to cars. "When I was twelve my dad showed me his broken 1977 Jaguar," said Nick. "He told me, 'If you can fix it, it's yours.'" Today, he parks that car daily in the student parking lot. Nick's incentive to understand machinery stems from his inquisitive nature. "I just like knowing how things work," says Nick. To earn money after school, Nick learned everything Zach Fox could teach him about computers, and started a computer repair company. He hopes to continue exploring machinery by studying engineering in college. "It's all about me deciding to do something," said Nick. "Attempting to do something, failing, learning from it and eventually making it work. It's a learning process."

Charlotte, Elizabeth, Kelsey – You guys are awesome! I never could have gotten through everything without you. Thanks for always being there for me whenever I needed you. Love you!
Nick, Devin, Eric –You have made my life so much better and I thank you for that. You always listen to my problems, and will help me through anything.
Robb – Thanks for driving me, helping me when I'm having a stupid day, being fun to hang out with, and being one of my really great friends.
All my friends – I love you all so much and you truly have made my 3 years at Masco much better than I ever thought possible.

My past 1200 breathtaking days in the Masconomet community have consisted of endless laughs, incredible friendships, and an astonishing growth in my beliefs along with my personality. I have grown to learn these past four years that poetry and English is the key to strengthening your soul. I have learned that track is the one sport where you need to make the best of every second, very similar to life. I have learned that the source to absolute happiness is doing what makes you happy and what makes you you. It takes most people practically there whole lives to arrive to these conclusions. Yet, it only took me four spectacular years.
It seems as if each year of being a chieftain has passed, the more I have appreciated my school and surroundings, for i knew that high school would not last forever. I thank all my family and friends for always supporting me and picking up when i was down. Those are the type of friends that can never be replaced and only come very few times in a person's life.
To my amazing friends- I love and cherish you all. May none of you change. Bright futures will lie ahead for you all.
As we move on to the next level of our lives it is important to know that there is no need for tears and upset. This is not the end, but only the beginning. May you all show the world what powerful human beings we have become these past years at Masconomet. Should obstacles ever arrive in life, just remember the infamous phrase, "A CHEIFTAN NEVER QUITS"

Wow…it's amazing to think that just four short years ago, we were all just beginning our journey through High School. To my friends and my family…what can I say other than thank you for being there for me, supporting me, and guiding me. High School has truly been a remarkable journey for us all…from beginning to end. To my mom, my dad, my brother, and all of my friends…you know who you are! Thank you!

It's crazy how time flies and that I'm already heading off to college. Being able to attend college is an opportunity and I love my Mom and Dad for giving me the opportunity to become successful. I can't possibly thank everybody in this little box, but without the support of my family and friends, I wouldn't be who I am today.

This is it. After all the years I have spent in Masco, it's actually coming to an end. Gone are the days where I would pace the halls late into the night, singing "My Humps," waiting for my ride home. Gone are the familiar sounds of the school and the faces of all the people I have grown up with.

To the few teachers who have made this part of my life all that much better: thank you -Marini, Stanley, O'Keefe, Mitchell and Daykin- You guys have made my high school career bearable.

To my besties Nick, Matt and Rebecca, I love you guys and I can only hope we will still continue to live, laugh, and play together.

To Katie Anne Williams: ☺ forever would be nice. Goodbye Masco

After four years there are so many people I have to thank.

Mom and Dad: You've helped me however possible. I'll never be able to say I didn't have every opportunity to succeed. I love you both, Thank you.

I've learned that loyalty is a hard thing to find.

Pete: I've always been able to depend on you and I'd probably trust you with my life

Cole, Andy, and Carl: Even though the group's been separated I know I can always count on you guys for a laugh no matter where we are

And to everyone else I wish you all the best. I hope you all achieve your dreams and change the world.

To my family: We've been through a lot this past year. Enough said. I love all of you, Mom, Dad, Chris, Sarah, Mr. Frank, Auntie Sue, Uncle Scott, Papa, Maryann. To Mimi: Thanks Mimi for letting me live with you, waking me up every morning because I forget to set my alarm, making me lunch when I don't have any money to buy one. You've done everything you can to make things comfortable for me, I love you Mimi. Lax Brahs: All my lax brahs I love all you guys. Tdip, and Kurt... chardruns everyday after practice this year?, Reeeeeeeed ya chump, Moose lets get some more iced punch, Mags, Roach, Dahlgren love you bros. D1 this year, Lets get it boys. The Guys: Coming from a sausage factory to Masco was tough, but I made some great friends along the way: Cha and Phil good time's boys, GD, JL, CS, EB, BK, CS, YY, HA, TT, KH, GA, JM, MW, GR, RG, MW , CR, RD, EC, Staub and Stache and Sorry if I forgot you. I would've never have laughed as hard, gone on as many chard runs, played with calypso, played as much cod6, or gotten as many nicknames as I have with you guys. Thanks and good times, keep it real boys. Girls: Stay classy, love you all especially Janelle and Amanda ! Calypso: I love you and what they did to you is cruel and inhumane, that's all there is to it.

All I can really say is that Junior and Senior years I held friendships with an entire lunch table of the funniest guys I'll ever meet (you guys know who you are). I also met a girl who had the ability to make any situation more fun and more bearable. Andrea: you saved me from the back of that bus and I'll never be able to repay you for that, I love you. No matter where we end up in life I hope we'll both be happy. I saved the best for last; Mom, Dad, Danielle, Erin, and Bobby- you guys made the last four years pretty memorable. You never pushed me to be something I'm not and let me be my own person for which, I can never thank you enough.

Dad- Your probably the most goofiest, caring&loving man I know. You've gotten me through these past years nagging, bugging, and annoying me and I can't thank you enough. Love you so much Ma- The best times we have is just sitting on the couch doing nothing all night mainly watching Glee or SNL. You've pushed me to do better in everyway. I can honestly say I couldn't of done it without you. I Love you. Louis- You're the best brother I could ever ask for, we've become so close over the years and it's made me so happy. Love you big bro Bianca- You've lived your 20 years so far to annoy and torture me. It's been a real experience being your lil' sis. Love you- JDebbs&TD5K- a.k.a, Jess and Trina, I know I can come to you guys whenever I need to smile or have a good laugh. You've become my best-friends and I don't know what I'd do without you guys. Loveeee you!!Krissy-and by that I mean Krystal =) I don't know what I'd do if I didn't have you for the past four years, you've become one of my closest and most trustworthy friends and I love you to death. Spenc&Nick- You're my best guy friends. It's absolute blasphemy when we're together and that's what I love! Love you guys. R.I.P Forever 51

Mom and Dad. Thank you for putting up with me and all of my friend's madness. I couldn't imagine having parents that aren't like you two. The memories I spent with my parents will stick with me my entire life and I cannot explain how grateful I am to have them. I love you guys. Daniel- Try and figure yourself out and don't push the folks too far. Ben- go to school and keep playing soccer. Too all of the teachers who had to deal with me, thank you

All my soccer buddies- Best of times on the pitch, and bloody lethal times off it. Paul and his family- ridiculously fun times. Jack, Greg, Miller, Marshall (the devil), Reed, and Curtis. Don't forget stuff like Kohut. A person once told me to surround myself with good people, and by attending this school it was easier than expected. I give my best wishes to everyone I came in contact with at Masconomet, and hope you live the way you want your life to go. Good luck Seniors 2010!

Emotions, drama, broken hearts, and lies
And they say these were the best days of our lives?
We have been through the thick and the thin of it all.
We have been thrown obstacles from every angle
And somehow together, we remain strong.
Wow. Look at how far I have come from being the new girl with the pink and purple hair in the middle of sophomore year... haha. High school has made me realize who I am and who you all are and I hope to keep these friendships I've made all through life. I just want to thank everyone who has been there for me- my family, friends and teachers (even strangers and "enemies"). I couldn't have done it without you, and I want you all to know that no matter where you go , or what you do, I'm always here for you guys like you were always there for me. I love you! I'm not gunna sit here and cram names or initials and an inside joke from each person here, the space (and my font) is small enough as it is. But if you meant a lot to me I'm sure you know it already. Just remember I love you guys and I consider you family more than friends.

Ryan – Been brothers since the 2nd grade. You're always going to be the chief.
Mike – We've been through too many phases to count together. Ride on bro! #51
Ty – Always having long talks on the bus about the snowboard tricks we were going to stomp!
Andy – We'll be cruising around in our rice soon enough..... Vroooooom Pssshhhh!!!!!
Joey – I'll be able to double bass fast at some point. Great times jamming wherever we could.

Hooters Wing Night! – 55 and going for more.
I couldn't have made it through any of this if it wasn't for the support from my friends. You know who you all are. Meet you all at 'Dales!
Mom, Christina, & Alan – I love you so much! I can't think of what I would do without you.

5 Lessons I've Learned At Masco

1. Always wait last minute to do a project. Put off the project, but never put off procrastinating.
2. School bathrooms will be locked when you need them the most.
3. Heaters will turn on in June and air conditioners will turn on in the dead of winter.
4. No food in class . . . except Cheez-its.
5. After 13 years of education, 720 days of high school, and 40 hours of community service, all you'll ever get is a tiny square and a boot out the door. Yep, that's fair.

To the Class of 2010- High school is done but the learning never stops.

After what can only be described as a monumental speech by head coach Jim Pugh, the 2009 football team marches from the locker room to Bunker Stadium pumped up and ready for a win. Led to the field by captains Chris Splinter, Evan Bunker, and George Alexandrou, Masco finished the season with an impressive home record of 9 and 2. Full parking lots and packed bleachers accompanied the team through every win.

"There's nothing like playing at home on a Friday night with everyone watching," said senior cornerback Braden Kowalski. Returning stars from last year's team said that this year's group could only be an improvement on their past records. Key players Collin Burke, John Daniels, Alex Staub, Kurt Hunziker, and Brodie Green provided the necessary intensity to help inspire a winning atmosphere.

The boys will always remember those Friday nights after a win. Being a part of the football team is hard work, but definitely worth it for all those involved. The atmosphere is one that lasts forever. This year, during half time of the Malden Catholic home game, football alumni from all five decades of Masco's history were honored on the field. It was obvious that these alumni had not forgotten what it was like to play football for Masconomet, and the camaraderie and enjoyment gained by being a part of the football team has not been forgotten.

POSTSEASON

After all the hard work put in by the football team this year, winning the CAL title game 40-20 against North Andover on Thanksgiving was certainly deserved. For this highly motivated team, though, a league title simply wasn't enough. The Chieftains battled the Concord-Carlisle Patriots at Cawley Stadium in frigid conditions. Led by a halfback pass to Collin Burke, the team destroyed the Patriots and continued on to the championship game at Gillette Stadium.

The Chieftains stormed Gillette Stadium on a rainy and cold Saturday afternoon to face off against the Marshfield Rams. With unfavorable conditions, Masco was unable to score until the third quarter when Evan Bunker busted out a 51-yard run for a touchdown. Fighting for a comeback in the fourth quarter, Bunker and the team marched the ball closer to the goal. On the fourth down, Collin Burke reeled in a Bunker pass for 6 points to bring the team within one point of a tie. They decided to go for the win with a 2-point conversion, but the attempt fell incomplete. The onsides kick was recovered by Marshfield, and the Chieftains' hopes for a state title were over.

Despite a tough loss, the team showed incredible heart and determination this season, especially during the final quarter of their season. Plagued by injuries, the Chieftains truly played an incredible game at Gillette, and represented Masco well.

"When we say red, you say white!"

The cheerleading squad enjoyed a successful and spirit-filled 2009 fall season. Led by their head coach's motto, "We need work to be varsity worthy," the team gave it their all throughout the season. Practices included working on tumbling, stunting, and routines for competitions. The team focused on motivating Masco fans during football games. As put by one senior cheerleader, "The football games are so much. They give us an opportunity to show off some of our skills while also getting the crowd going." The team, headed by junior captains Meagan Moore and Danielle Dube, enjoys participation from a strong underclassmen group. Star dancer Morgan Craig and champion tumbler Elise Brady assure the program a solid future in seasons to come. Whether tumbling, stunting, or simply cheering, Masco cheerleaders sure know how to pump up school spirit. And remember: when they say red, you say white!

Masconomet Field Hockey

"Together on three!" Coach Iseman shouts as the girls crowd around her in excitement for the game to begin. It is a Tuesday afternoon and the Masconomet field hockey team has come to play. Dressed head to toe in their team's apparel, the girls remain composed and focused, ready for any challenges thrown their way. The 2009 field hockey season has been a success in countless ways. With upperclassmen like Lauren Pazdziorny, Pam Herter, Mari Yuskowski, Sydney Godett, and Alexa Coleman leading the way, this year's team is unified on and off the field. From the great fundraisers like the dodge ball tournament to sliding practices in the mud, the girls always guarantee a memorable season. And with a record of 10-8-3 their hard work clearly paid off. Although next year the team will be losing 10 seniors, the future of MFH continues to look strong. "There are so many great underclassmen and people are already stepping up. I have complete faith in the girls. I don't think some of the younger girls realize the leadership and potential they have which is exciting," said captain Sydney Godett. There is no doubt that the girls' field hockey team will continue to be a success in years to come.

Every Tuesday night, a local restaurant is bombarded by a group of hungry teenage boys in search of cheap buffalo wings. Whether they're coming from a game or a practice, a win or a loss, the boys' soccer team rarely varies in their routine. This tradition exemplifies the unity that is a large part of what made this group so successful. Led by Coach Lenny Emmons, the boys finished this fall with a winning record of 14-2-2 and a trip to states. Star players included captains Nate Webster and John Miller, who were among the five Masco players to receive All-League awards. "Our defense was really strong this year," said senior player Greg Rothman. "It provided a strong backbone at the beginning of they year while the offense was getting its footing. Then we were all able to come together to capture some wins." Although the group will graduate 13 seniors this year, younger players like Derek Schleer, Charlie Behrens, and Chad Burke are sure to help secure the team further victories in the seasons to come.

The girls' soccer team experienced another great season this fall. Led by senior captains Blair Shrewsbury, Lucy Gildein, and Lexi Dussi, the team finished with a winning record of 10-2-2. They overcame several obstacles, which included four ACL injuries, in their path to victory. Coach Paula "The Rocket" Yanakakis was able to adjust the lineups to still secure the team a Cape Ann League championship. Beyond their teamwork on the field, the players bonded through bus rides and jumps off thunder bridge. Their October car wash in Middleton helped to raise funds and bring the group closer together. "It's a really fun atmosphere," said captain Blair Shrewsbury. "There are lots of jokes but then we get serious as soon as we step on the field." Looking ahead to future seasons, the team's close ties and star juniors, including Molly Church, Gabby Russo, and Katlin Sampson, will surely maintain the tradition of success.

The ball flies in a perfect arc as feet shuffle for position. One perfect set by libero Sam Guidi hovers the ball above the net as a hand slams it into the back right corner of the court. The Masco volleyball girls are once again dominating the court. Led by captains Amanda Gotts, Katie Williams, Michaela Quimby, and Lauren Fitzgerald, the team ended their impressive season with a record of 12-7. Coach Schatzel was very pleased with the dedication the players showed this season. "After a great end of the season run last year, we were fired up and ready to do it again," she said. "The girls have worked hard, and it is paying off."

The team's notable record ranked them 9th in the MIAA state tournament where their high spirits and scores unfortunately were not able to carry them past their first game against Dracut.

"We had a ton of fun together. We hung out on weekends and all got along," said captain Amanda Gotts. "We wish we could have gone further in the but we had a good run." Gotts and her peers are have high hopes even beyond their tenure on the team, as underclassmen stars including Sam Guidi, Eliza Cohen, Abbey Peterson, and Kellie Linskey are sure to lead the team to future excellence.

The golf team had one of its best seasons to date this fall, finishing with the Cape Ann League title and a trip to the state finals. Senior captains Zach Ciampa and Gabe Dunn had a great last season and led the team to a record of 11-3. The team's daily practices included playing nine holes and putting time in at the driving range. Coach Ben Hodges helped to keep the boys focused on and off the green throughout the season. At CALS, the team faced off against their biggest rivals Triton and North Andover, and the team relied on strong underclassmen golfers Charlie May and Alex Kane as well as the seniors to help capture the title. Dunn finished second in the CAL open and Kane came in eighth, securing both an All-League award. "I've been on the team since freshman year, so I have seen a lot," said Dunn. "We have so many different personalities on our team and it's great to see them all come together."

A gun claps and instantly red uniforms dominate the head of the pack as the race starts. The Masco XC runners fly through the course and into another victory. They know every dip, turn, and hill of the Bradley Palmer 5k course.

The Chieftains finished the regular season with a winning record of 11-1, and 2nd place in the league. Crucial wins came late in the season with the final two races against Hamilton-Wenham and rival North Andover.

Top runners this season included captains Lee Greeley, Max Magill, and Reed Goodhue. Joining them at the top of every race were senior David Patch, junior Ben Hiromura and junior Greg Bjornstad "Having four runners under 17 minutes and another one close behind makes this arguably the fastest team in Masco history," said captain Lee Greeley. Overall, the Masconomet boys' cross country team had a great season that can be summed up in one word by Coach Pat Mahoney, "Toughness."

Joe Casey started the girls' cross-country program 35 years ago, during which time he has accumulated over 300 wins. Mr. Casey is also responsible for the infamous nickname that has become the team's monikker over the last 3 decades. "Bunnies!" he shouts, and a flock of girls can be seen running from the locker room. "It started my first year, I would scream in the locker room for the girls but when I just said, 'girls, let's go' all of the girls in the locker room would respond, regardless of what sport they played. So I went to the team and asked them to think of a name for themselves. They said they were quick like bunnies and from then on they came to be known as the bunnies," explained Mr. Casey. It's one of the many unique contributions to the strong bond formed by the girls' cross-country team.

The girls approach the spray-painted line across the ground anxiously. Suddenly chanting begins, every girl doused in red blurts out, "bunnies?" Just as the shouting fades the crowd hears, "Set, go" and the race has begun. The girls shoot off the start line into a sea of red and slowly fade into the background of Bradley Palmer State Park. This year's girls' cross country team proved to be better than ever. Finishing with a record of 10-2 was just one of many accomplishments the bunnies achieved this season. With Coach Casey's relentless practices, the girls provided nothing short of hard work. They were pushed to the limit everyday, from track workouts to hill sprints, and they stayed committed whether at practice or a meet. Along with the assistance of Jay Ihle and Riley Finnegan, the bunnies are guaranteed a full support system whenever they need it. The team is sad to graduate a total of 19 seniors including star runners Abbey D'Agastino and Sarah Barrett and with their assistant coach, Jay Ihle. But the future of the girls cross country program is looking strong to say the least. With juniors like Sophie Fabbri, Kayla Costigan, Courtney Cliffe,Nicole Guercia, and Ali Nichols the upperclassman girls will stand out without a doubt. Along side the upperclassman are Myla Zernich (freshman) and Mackenzie Shelgren (sophomore) whose talent will help carry this team into the future. The Bunnies are sure to continue to succeed for years to come.

There is no sport quite like indoor track. From the diverse events to choose from to the unique teammates, members of the track team are always having fun. "Most sports bring similar types of people together, but in GIT we have the most unique people," said captain Annie Johnson. "We have a great time goofing off and learning from each other." The entire program is dedicated to having fun and being as successful as possible. With a record of 6-2-1 the girls' camaraderie has clearly paid off. Upperclassman such as Nancy Swift, Rachel Rudder, Sarah Barrett, Keri White, and Alexa Moorman helped lead the intimidating amount of girls to a very successful season. The future of the team has sincere promise as well. Runners like Taylor and Shannon Beaton, Mackenzie Shelgren, Emily Wheeler, and Paige Marsh are the future of this program. Masco girls' indoor track has a genuinely impressive group that will continue to impress in years to come.

The crowd cheers, the baton is passed, and the meet is won. This is an image that became very familiar to the boys' track team this year. Pushing through another strong season and finishing with their heads held high, the team had an impressive record of 3-4. Running the toughest schedule the team has seen in a long time, each member made a significant contribution to this year's success on the track. Captains Lee Greeley, Ryan Madden, and Bobby Feltault have stepped up and taken lead of the team in their 2009-2010 season. Hamilton-Wenham was the toughest meet for the boys collectively because of their strong distance team, but in the end Masco came out triumphant. "I wouldn't consider us to have a star runner," said captain Lee Greeley. "Everyone on the team makes an impact in their event." This winning attitude is what carries the Chieftains to every victory.

Though divided by town lines, the girls became unified through hard work to form an unstoppable team. Captains Jess Sholomith, a Masco senior, and Megan Twomey, from North Andover, led the team on and off the ice. The girls bonded through sleepovers, pasta parties and trips to UNH hockey games. Star Masco players included senior Briana Doyle and freshman Nancy Palermo on defense. Junior Pam Herter contributed greatly to every win, and will remain crucial to the team into next year's season.

The boys' hockey team, led by captains Justin Champlain, Nick Simonetti, and Ryan Dooley, ended with a regular season record of 13-5-2 and finished third in the CAL. Frequent goal scorers included senior Ryan Dooley and juniors Sean Haines, Pat Crosby and Vinny Zingarelli. Goaltenders Casey Tudor and Jake Warren traded off time throughout the year, both showing solid performances. The forechecking line of David Eidle, Nick Dipietro, and Rob Grant worked hard to keep the game physical and give the team energy. Defensemen Nick Simonetti, Scott Woods, and Brendan Dalghren stopped opponents, while Justin Champlain added an offensive spark to the defense.

A big game for the Chieftains was against Newburyport at Ward Hill in Haverhill. Masco won in convincing fashion, 4-1, against a worthy opponent, the Clippers. Last season, the Chieftains ended their season with a loss to Lynnfield in the state tournament, but they came back this year to defeat Lynnfield twice.

The strong regular season earned Masco a 6th seed in the MIAA Tournament and a first round game against Gloucester at Salem State College. The Chieftains won 4-1 in a physical game with goals from Chris Roach, and Pat Crosby (2) and an empty netter by Phil Russo to seal the deal. Masco then faced Peabody and ended their season with a hard 4-3 loss to a tough opponent.

Senior captains Carly Keirnan, Emily Winskowicz, and Julie Galvin led the Chieftains to multiple big wins this season. Kiernan and Winskowicz were consistent scorers and rebounders for the team, while captain Sydney Godett used speed to shut down teams defensively.

The "Lady Chieftains" made the Division 1 MIAA tournament for the first time ever as an 11th seed. In the first round game, Masco upset NEC Large champion, Lynn English, 48-46. Brooke Stewart hit a 3-pointer with 2.8 seconds left to win the game. The girls played hard the whole game and earned the win as a team effort.

Young talent for Masco included sophomores Brooke Stewart, Taylor Evans, Chelsea Nason, and Danielle Davis. Stewart hit many big shots and grabbed countless rebounds to greatly help the team. Evans played well defensively, earning steals and fast break points. This crop of young players will lead Masco basketball into a bright future.

Wrestling

On Wednesdays during the winter you may find Masco students wearing some fewer clothes than usual. No, they're not going swimming, they are members of Masco's wrestling team. Though wrestling is not among the more popular of spectator sports, the team worked hard all winter and finished with what was one of the best seasons in Masco wrestling history. Coach Mintz kept the team on a rigorous practice schedule that included hours of stances, running and drills. Each member of varsity is assigned a specific weight class, and their commitment to the team continues into their free time as they keep that goal in mind.

The underclassmen were inspired by the winning attitude of captains Nate Hooper and Pete Brostowin. After more than eight years in the sport, Hooper had the season of his career. He started off by reaching a personal goal of 100 career wins, and eventually captured a new school record of 129 wins. Hooper served a true example for his younger teammates by showing the great rewards of his hard work.

Looking ahead to future seasons, underclassmen stars like Justin Lawrence will be sure to carry on the legacy set by this year's champion seniors.

Helen Steggall

Captains Helen Steggall and Chelsea O'Hara led Masco's gymnastic team through an impressive season, ending with a record of 4-5. Each girl put in an immense amount of effort daily practices in Middleton, at Yellow Jacket's Gym. The girls spend a great deal of time practicing their routines and perfecting their moves. Events range from the uneven bars and floor to the vault and the balance beam. Six members of each team are allowed to compete in any single event and each gymnast is permitted to be in three events. For the most versatile gymnasts on the team there are "all-around" competitors who participate in all four events. Through their hard work, members of the gymnastics team have demonstrated an enormous level of skill and dedication. The passion each teammate shows towards the sport is a rare thing that is not often found in high school sports. Though it may not be the most popular sport, experience continues to benefit the school. Each year the gymnastic team gets stronger, and that improvement is sure to continue in the years to come.

Swim Team

"Swimmers step up, take your marks, go!" The horn blares as swimmers dive into the cool pool water, adrenaline pumping through their bodies. Masco swimmers secure a first place. At least that's the hope. Headed by new coach Ben Hanchett, the Masco swim team has been securing more and more medals. The coed team practices four days a week at the Salem YMCA. The practice schedule, often draining for the swimmers, requires team participants to be at the pool at 8:00 each night. Practice ends at 9:15, which means most swimmers do not return home until around 9:45. When asked how team members deal with this demanding schedule, senior captain Jenny Gronneberg said, "It can be tough, but the hard work always pays off. Finishing a hard set or winning a race makes it all worth it." The team's odd practice schedule also lends to some non-conventional team bonding. While most teams enjoy pasta parties together, the swim team often meets at Bugaboo Creek the night before a meet or after practice.

Masco swimmers face some tough competition from teams such as Ipswich, Hamilton Wenham, and Lynnfield. The team will be looking to a strong group of underclassmen to carry them through the next few years. Juniors Matt Antczak, Sam Kruger, and James Casey all provide a solid foundation for the team in the coming year, while sophomores Jake Gillespie and Cody Arrington promise the team more future success. Whether swimming hard or going out to dinner, the swim team always manages to maintain a low-key, high-fun atmosphere. As stated by junior swimmer Abby Warren, "Swimming can be intense. Sometimes I'm tired and I feel like I can't keep going. But then I see the benefits of my hard work and I realize that Masco swim team is worth all of the effort."

Girls' Ski Team

Masco Girls' Ski Team experienced yet another outstanding season this winter. The team, headed by coaches Ryan Quinn, Bethanne Swartz, and Leo Kranuelis won the Cape Ann League championship as a result of their strong 8-1 record. The girls also pulled out a first place win at the interscholastic meet. So where exactly does this winter team get all of their power? Six of Masco's girls were within the top 20 in the league. Junior Courtney Cliffe took first place in the league, while senior Devon Belding and junior Katie Kraunelis followed close behind. Junior Anna Manning says the team's strength also stems from their "close-knit community." Co-ed pasta parties with members of the boy's team are held once a week, and the girls occasionally wear their racing suits to school in support of their team. The group is expected to keep its strong record and position as one of the strongest teams in the state in upcoming years. Whether on the hill or off the slopes, you can be sure Masco skiers are having fun, snowstorm or not.

The boys' ski team had one of its best seasons to date this year, finishing with a winning record of 6-4. Led by captains Jason Schwartz, Greg Rothman, and Reed Goodhue, the team spent the early winter months conditioning in the Masco field house, preparing for the long season ahead. By December, the team was hitting the slopes nightly with Coach Quinn, practicing drills and perfecting their starts. Their hard work clearly paid off in January when the team beat long-time rival North Andover for the first time in more than a decade. "We demolished them," said senior Goodhue. "It was a great feeling to work together and finally win." Goodhue, along with junior Nevin Clay, qualified for states for the first time in his Masco career. Pasta parties with the girls' team were among the highlights of the season, and the team often met at the Tea Garden after practice to refuel. "Terrible service, great food," said Rothman. "But it made our season great." Looking ahead to future seasons, the Chieftains will be able to rely on star underclassmen like Jeff Quenzel, Matt Block, and Wes Shrewsbury. "It was a great last season for me," said Goodhue. "We were really in the zone."

Boys Tennis

The boys' tennis team is set to achieve victory on the courts this year. Led by head coach Al McCarthy and senior captains Max Magill and Jack Moriarty, the team's practices are intense and bring out the best from each athlete. The team must be physically tough and are running all the time from drill to drill in practice. However, the team is also aware of mental toughness. In the handbook itself, one of the rules is to be more than just physically fit. "Be mentally tough. Excuses are a waste of time. Everyone is playing in the same conditions as you are, so get over it and rise above it. If you focus on why things aren't going your way, things will never go your way." It is this determination that is guaranteed to bring the team through a successful season.

The tennis courts at Masco are prepped and ready to see the girls through another great season. The Masco girls' tennis team held a 12-2 record last year and are set to take it even farther this year. Senior captains Katie Moriarty, Lauren Fitzgerald, and Lane Wendel are determined to set a great example for their teammates as the look ahead to the season. "I think we have a great team this year," said Moriarty, who was voted captain at the end of her sophomore season. "I'm really looking forward to seeing how well this group can play."

CAPTAINS

Coming off a 6-3-1 record from last year, the boys' track team is hoping to carry on their solid performance into this season and improve their third place standing in the Cape Ann League. Senior captains John Daniels, Tyler Plimpton, and Ryan Madden are looking forward to carrying the team throughout the spring. Junior David Searles, a resident 100-yard sprinter holds much promise for the team, as does fellow junior Ben Hiromura. Even though he is coming off an injury, Hiromura, a talented distance runner, promises to secure several first place finishes. Senior distance runners Dan Goldman and Ryan Forcier also offer much talent to the team while throwers Tyler Brown and Brian McCarthy cement events such as javelin and shot put. The boys are looking forward to another promising season with a team full of depth from underclassmen and upperclassmen alike.

After a 5-5 record last season, the girls are looking to improve the solid team to an even stronger record. Talented seniors such as D'Agostino in distance events and Johnson in the high jump assure the team success. Underclassmen like Mackenzie Shelgren and Paige Marsh also offer the team a promising future not only this season, but in years to come.

Last year the team went 19-6 for the season and many of the key players that made that possible are back again. Leading the team this year include captains Gabe Dunn, Evan Bunker, Chris Splinter, and Colin Shepard, who are hoping for a great season. Coaches Mike Valentino and John Delaney are also very excited for the team this year.

With such a strong lineup this year, the Masco girls' softball team is sure to improve from their previous record of 3-9. Underclassmen like Taylor Evans and Erin Campbell are going to be the backbone of the program as years go on. Senior captains Katie Guido, Allison Shamon, and Olivia Story plan to lead the team to their best season yet. "We are hoping for a good run in the state tournament and a shot at the Cape Anne League title," said Shamon, a senior. The girls also have a new coach, which is great for a fresh start. Said Guido, "It is going to be a great season and I can't wait to see the outcome."

As they move up to Division 1 this year, the Masco boys' lacrosse team is prepared for a challenging season. With an impressive win against North Andover last spring, this season is looking very promising for the boys. Starting goalie Reed Goodhue is the wall and field general of the team who plans to lead this team to a CAL title. In front of him returning on defense will be seniors Mike Camuso, Chris Roach, Justin Morse and the Plourde brothers, who are ready to go to work on the opposing offensive players. The midfield is where the team will be in search of some new talent because of the large number of midfield players that graduated last year. Attack is another strong point for the boys this season as they have a strong returning group that includes seniors Mike Magnifico and Brendan Dalghren. The addition of a few more underclassman to the top of the roster will make them more than ready to be successful this spring. "We have numerous starters on both sides of the ball and the young midfield are biting at the bit to prove themselves to the upperclassmen," said Coach Cobb. Getting and keeping the ball between the boxes with strength and confidence will be crucial to the success over the next two months. With all of this talent and versatility on the field, the boys's lacrosse team is bound to have an exciting season.

Last year Masco's girls' lacrosse team surprised everyone after their 22-11 loss against North Andover by beating them at the last game of the regular season. The final score was 15-14 in overtime to tie for the CAL championship. Graduating 11 players, including six starters, the team is looking to a lot of underclassman to fill the shoes of the past. "We are excited to have a whole new group of girls, it should really make for a new and positive dynamic on the team," said senior player Elizabeth Iorio. Underclassmen like Courtney Cliffe, Pam Herter, and Rebecca Horgan are going to be the key to this team's success. This season holds one of the most talented groups of girls that this program has seen in the last decade. With four out of six of the seniors playing collegiate lacrosse next year the season is looking bright for the "Lady Chieftains." Said captain Blair Shrewsbury, "Our team has always had to come together during hard times and through that we have had to grow together and I am excited to do it again this season."

Ultimate Frisbee

Despite the constant controversy surrounding the legitimacy of the school team, Ultimate Frisbee players have rounded up a cutting-edge group of students devoted to the disc.
The team started off great with five victories at the Northfield Mount Hermon tournament in their first official games. Team captains Kevin McAllister and Ian Wilson both skillfully put the disc into the endzone. The two seniors also led the team great defensively by not allowing any team to get enough of a lead on the Jayhawks. Coaches Bob Serino and Riley Finnigan made a team out of the odd assortment of players, many of whom were fall soccer players rusty from an uneventful winter. However, the team's speed paid off and the Jayhawks are sure to have a successful season.

Ultimate Crew

The Masco crew team had a great inaugural season this year. Their daily practices were led by coach Jared Scarpaci, and he kept the team unified through water hockey games and races. Captains Scott Bermudez and Kelsey Siwek pushed their team to many victories throughout the short season, which continued as long as their boathouse, Bunker Stadium, stood on the banks of the Ipswich River. Strong rowers included seniors Blair Shrewsbury (port) and Elizabeth Iorio (starboard), as well as coxswains Steven Tyler and Yosh Yabe. The group averaged abou 12:20 for a 2k, a number that they hope to see increased in future seasons. As long as they manage to avoid obstacles such as the tennis net and field goals, juniors such as Anna Manning and Pam Herter will be sure to carry this team to future success.

Masco: Then & Now

2010 meets 1960

It has been 50 years since Donna Butler, member of the class of 1960, wandered the halls of Masco, but she returned this year to offer the 2010 Yearbook Committee her view on the last five decades of growth.

Butler received a phone call when the Yearbook Committee decided to feature the cover of the original "MiToBo" in this year's edition. When we found that the only 1960 edition of the Masco yearbook in the school library was missing its original cover, we tried to find more information at the class' alumni website.

Butler agreed to come into class the very next day and answer questions from the staff to describe her experience at Masco. Armed with a yearbook and memories, Butler helped today's senior class dig up the roots of some honored Masco traditions.

Coming Together

Before Masco opened in 1959, students from Middleton, Topsfield, and Boxford went separately to a variety of different high schools.

Those from Middleton, like Butler, were most enthused about the tri town union after having gone to a different high school each year. Their junior year was spent at Salem High, where many of the Middleton students felt the effects of socioeconomic differences between the two areas.

"We had to get the bus at 6:15 to go ride to Salem High. [The Salem students] would stand on the hill and cry, 'Here comes the stagecoach from Middleton,'" explained Butler.

The Boxford students, meanwhile, were split up between a few nearby schools, mostly Georgetown High. Many of these students were unhappy about being separated from the Georgetown teenagers with whom they had spent the previous three years.

It was Topsfield residents, however, who were found to have the most dissatisfaction with the new school system. Prior to the construction of Masco, teenagers from Topsfield attended the more exclusive Topsfield High.

"Topsfield didn't want to be here," said Butler. "There were a lot of kids in my class that made it clear: it wasn't their school, they were forced here."

The tension between the three towns was evident in 1985 when the Butler's class opened a time capsule they had created just before graduation. The class was asked to write about what they hoped to see the school become, and many of the students wrote that they wished for the school unite Boxford, Topsfield, and Middleton.

"I hoped the bickering and arguing between the three towns would stop," said Butler, "and it hasn't."

Butler said that Masco's relatively short history is has an unfortunate effect on today's students. She claims that unlike other local school districts, Tri-Town adults that don't have children in the system will rarely participate in school and community events.

"A lot of people aren't townies, so to speak," said Butler.

MASCOmpassion

MASCOmpassion is a new club at Masco, dedicated to community service. Current seniors Julia Lyons and Kaleigh Ross founded it just last year, as a medium through which to find and carry out community service projects. Successes this year included bake sales, fundraising walks, and candy gram gifts. The group meets weekly to brainstorm new ways to get involved, and plan upcoming events. MASCOmpassion's seniors have high hopes that their club will continue through the years following their graduation, and truly make the community a better place.

GIV is a club focused on fostering a passion for philanthropy in students, especially through first-hand experience in foreign countries. The GIV club is currently raising funds to donate 100 XO laptops to elementary grade level students in Africa, a mission that will encourage opportunity through learning and empowerment. Past fundraisers include Masco Madness, an ice cream eating competition, several yard sales, a car wash, and the Masconomet GIV Battle of the Bands. This December, the GIV club held the first annual Masconomet GIV Winter Craft Fair, which was an encouraging success for the club. GIV looks forward to planning another craft fair next school year.

National Honor Society

A common misconception about the NHS at Masconomet is that their main concerns revolve around issues of academic achievement, but that is not always the case. Community service ranks amongst the highest priorities for the almost 200 NHS members, and activities such as running the Blood Drive, coordinating a care package campaign for troops overseas, and promoting moral integrity through their strong presence at many school events. Maintaining a 4.3 grade point average is a requirement for this selective group of upperclassmen.

French Club, one of four language clubs at Masco, is very active in planning activities pertaining to both French language and culture. The group enjoys eating crepes at meetings, traveling to Boston to see French musical productions, and speaking French amongst themselves. Every meeting includes a French snack in addition to lots of French spirit. Don't forget to "dit bonjour" in the hallways!

Model United Nations

Late into every Wednesday night, the Masconomet library is filled with noise. The Model United Nation team fills the empty school as they practice their public speaking skills and perfect their position papers. Students who are interested in international relations and debate choose to participate in this club, which sponsors trips each year to both Harvard and New York for regional conferences. This year's team successfully represented Finland and the Bahamas at the Harvard conference and France with special committees for Sweden and Vietnam in New York.

Best Buddies

Best Buddies is a time-honored organization that allows disabled students to interact with their peers in a way to develop social skills as well as friendships. Members enjoy fun activities like parties, fundraisers and other creative get-togethers throughout the school year. Best Buddies makes the high school experience enjoyable for all, and includes everyone in the fun.

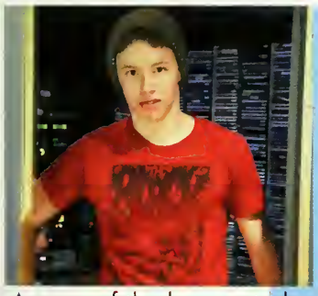
Ping Pong Club

According to Forrest Gump, "Any idiot can play ping pong." But not every idiot is as good as captains Jason Schwartz and Greg Rothman. Despite being held from the public eye, Ping Pong Club is among the many hardworking clubs at Masco. Due to its secretive nature, some doubted the very existence of the club, but little did they know a highly skilled, underground army of ping pongers met throughout the year, restlessly honing their serves, forehands, and spins. Next year's captains, juniors Kyle McBrierty, Anderson Cashin, and Derek Schleer, are sure to carry this young club to relatively promising heights.

Environmental Club

Students passionate about environmental issues combine their efforts to make Masco a cleaner and greener community. Weekly meetings focus on organizing public service announcements that offer catchy reminders to reduce, reuse, and recycle. The two recently installed water purifiers in the small and large cafeterias are examples of the club's achievements. With the help of the environmental club, Masco is making our world a better place.

WBMT



As one of the larger student radio stations in Massachusetts, WBMT has been working for years to provide the students of Masco with a voice in radio. The club members are each assigned shifts in the afternoon, during which they choose the songs and content played for an audience that spans the tri town. Listeners can tune into WBMT 88.3 every weekday from 3-9 p.m., and experience the work of Masco's only organization run entirely by students.

Roster: Sabrina Amiri, Zachary Barry, Brian Beaton, Alessandra Bisalti, Carolyn Black, Daniel Bond, Sarah Bradshaw, Martin Cain, Jay Carncross, Jameson Casey, Brian Cogger, Mary Craig, Matt Dahl, Patrick Davis, William Davis, Rachel Fund, Jake Greenstein, Nick Hall, Michael Healey, Anaximander Heiter, Liz Hickey, Elias Jefferson, Timothy Kastrinelis, Emily Kelly, Alexander Kent, William Knight, Kevin Li, Alexander Liptak, Julia Lyons, Madison Marshall, Joshua Matfess, Zoe Matthews, James McGann, Michael Mosho, Matthew Neidhart, Abigail Nelson, Christian Nicewicz, Olivia O'Malley, Kenny Ott, Jessica Repucci, Justin Rice, Jamaica Siwek, Taylor Stannard, Emily Sweeney, Stephen VanGeyte, Alexandra Weil, Ethan White

ABC

A Better Chance is a national organization that looks to "increase substantially the number of well-educated young people of color who are capable of assuming positions of responsibility and leadership in American society." Masco's chapter brings young boys to the tri town to live, study, and grow. The students who participate in the ABC Board hold events and fundraiser to help keep the club running. Fundraisers like the ABC auction and the bike-a-thon are successfully held annually, and the current members are continuing to think up fun and original activities for future students.

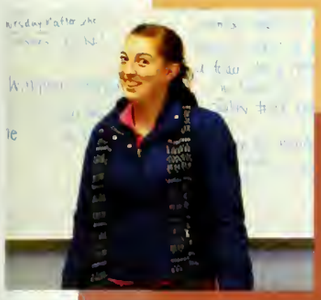
Roster: Jason Bermudez, Mark Bermudez, Collin Burke, Alex Camarena, Angel Cruz, Valerie Dorn, Ramon Espinal, Adam Farward, Andrew Gonzalez, Olivia Lobdell, Jack O'Leary, Joseph Reneau, Tim Rizza, Margaret Rizza, Jason Schwartz, Zach Turcotte

GSA

Roster: Rebecca Imboden, Sage Magnant, Athena Mangos, Rebecca Nason, Elissa Nelson, Julie Ostrow, Daniel Phillips, Anastas Varinos, Jessica Wells

The Gay Straight Alliance, GSA for short, is one of the most active clubs at Masco. The accepting group, headed by advisor Ms. Murphy and president Rebecca Nason, meets every Friday afternoon. The club sponsors events such as the distribution of rainbow ribbons, the day of silence, and LGBT person of the month in an attempt to raise awareness and acceptance towards the lesbian, gay, bi, and transgender communities. The group is planning to attend the Youth Pride festival in Boston later this year.

Student Council

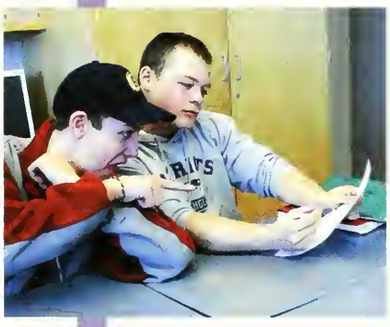


Student Council is comprised of students who wish to demonstrate their leadership skills by working toward making Masco a better place for everyone. They are responsible for events and fundraisers that pertain to the entire student body, and meet every Wednesday to discuss school news and activities. Highlights this year included planning homecoming week, Mr. Masco, and assorted school dances.

SPAR

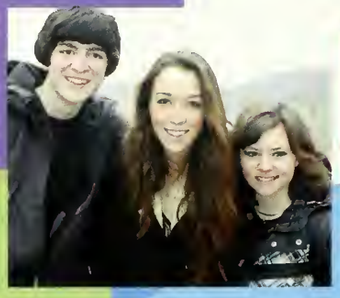
Students Protecting Animal Rights, more commonly known around school as SPAR, works with advisor Ms. Miller-Charette to promote the better treatment of animals. Some of the issues that the club tackles include vegetarianism, veganism, and ethical dilemmas concerning animal rights. The group meets once a month to plan fundraisers for local animal shelters and discuss ways in which they can further their goals.

Chinese Club



Masco's newest language and culture class, Chinese, already has a large group of involved students. The class is in its third year, while enthusiastic students formed the club only last year. They strive to learn more about Chinese culture through field trips, art projects, and projects. Highlights this year were the trips to Chinatown in Boston and the Chinese House at the Peabody Essex Museum.

Spanish Club



El Corte Inglés

Among the more active language clubs at Masco, the Spanish Club sets out to celebrate Spanish culture with food, music and events throughout the year. Some of their more involved activities have included movie festivals in Spanish, community service projects to benefit Spanish-speaking communities, and the celebration of cultural holidays like "Día de los Muertos."

Roster: Doyoung Ahn, Erika Aldeborgh, Brian Allyn, Jennifer Bartlett, Alyssa Bean, Anna Berenson, Hannah Bergh, Scott Bermudez, Benjamin Besse, Jessamine Bleiler, Ryan Burbank, Collin Burke, Jonathan Cabour, Matthew Cardillo, Ava Carnevale, James Casey, Ashton Clapp, Emily Cocciardi, Sheila D'Angelo, Miranda Dearborn, Spencer Deschenes, Alec DiGiorgio, Alexander Dzwil, Brooke Eagar, Sophie Fabbri, Emily Feltault, Maura Feltault, Tressa Fitts, Samantha Flaherty, Sarah Foster, Conor Fowler, Jonathan Garnick, Daniel Goldman, Kathryn Guido, Katherine Guinee, Mary Guinee, Emily Hall, Emily Harper, Alyson Hayden, Molly Haynes, Madelaine Ives, Steven Jones, Caitlin Jones, Luke Juergens, Kristen Kennefick, Christopher Lawrence, Julia Little, Danielle Maiocco, Nina Maiuri, Emma Marshall, Samantha Martin, Jacqueline Matczak, Peyton Morris, Aaron Palmer, Alexandra Reardon, Kara Robinson, Alexandra Romagnoli, Abigail Rose, Douglas Rothman, Gregory Rothman, Rachel Rudder, Emma Rutstein, Laura Scarfo, Lacey Scrima, Janel Silveira, Frederick Soriano Jr., Carolyn Spinelli, Marissa Suarez, Kayla Sullivan, Dante Volpacchio, Abigail Warren, Emily Wheeler, Katie Williams, Alexandra Zafonte

Habitat For Humanity

Organized under the wing of North Shore Habitat for Humanity, Habitat is among the more popular community service clubs at Masco. Students who are interested can sign up to volunteer at local build sites throughout the year and offer their limited abilities to the construction crews who work there daily. In addition, the group organizes participates in the national "Act, Speak, Build Week" to raise money and awareness about Habitat's goals. "There's something about physically working toward making our community better," said advisor Jared Scarpaci. "It's really good to see that in our students."

Cooking Club

Officers Lacey Scrima, Emily Mann, and Hannah Weaver know the ingredients to whipping up a successful club. This newly formed collection of future chefs gathers for monthly culinary activities that allow members to embrace their love for food. Every cooking club meeting, overseen by Señor Pierce, promises an exchange of recipes and smiles. They always ensure an after-school treat!

Every day during 6th period, music echoes through the halls and into the ears of students thanks to the hard work of the Masco band. The talented musicians practice in class everyday to perfect songs that are shared with the public at various events and concerts. This year's class is the biggest group in Masco's recent history, and has demonstrated its dedication at Chieftain sports games, winter concerts, and town parades.

Drama Department

Elena Eimert takes center stage as Belle.

Anastas Varinos was the character Lefou, but played the role of a cookie during "Be Our Guest"

Joby Lavery, as the Beast in this year's production of Beauty and the Beast, ferociously eats his cookie.

Featured dancer Vanessa Merta shows her talent as she lights up scenes throughout the entire production.

Colby Thompson enthusiastically poses as Lumiere.

When watching Masco's productions, it's hard to ignore the level of on-stage professionalism. Equally as impressive is the efficiency that is behind the stage. Perfecting props, costumes, and stage organization, are the members of stage crew that dedicate themselves to making Masco's theatre the best it can possibly be. They are hard at work making sure everything is ready from first act to final curtain.

Lighting up the stage each fall and spring is Masco's very own drama department. Talented students signed up to display their musical abilities in the winter play, Beauty and the Beast, or else practiced filmmaking in the fall movie festival. Members of the drama club work hard year round through auditions, rehearsals, and opening night to keep the student body entertained.

Beauty and the Beast Cast:

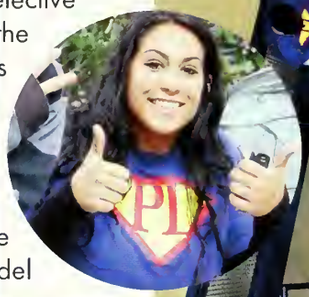
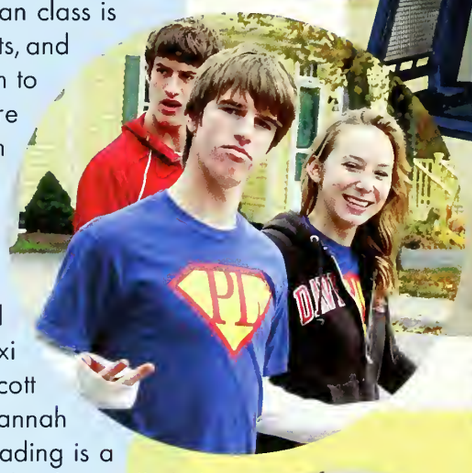
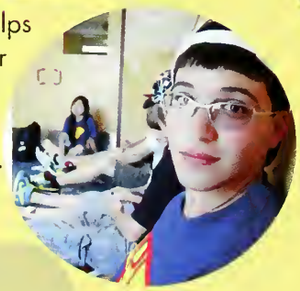
Peer Leading



Comprised of members chosen every spring, Peer Leading is a selective organization of juniors and seniors who do their best to help the freshman class acclimate to high school. The selection process to become a peer leader is very involved; sophomores who are interested in applying must submit an essay and be recommended by their teachers and coaches. If a student recieves even one "X" from a teacher, they are out of the running. Out of the 250 applicants, only about 40 are selected. Once selected, peer leaders are expected to assume a role of model citizenship for the freshman class. The freshman class is divided into smaller groups of about ten students, and assigned at least two peer leaders with whom to meet. These upperclassmen peer leaders are able to offer everything from a friendly wave in the hallway to advice based on their experiences at Masco. Peer leaders are there to answer any questions freshmen may have about classes, teachers, grades, sports, or simply anything relating to the high school experience. Senior Peer Leader Captain Lexi Dussi, one of six seniors who head the group (Scott Bermudez, Nate Webster, Jake London, Hannah Weaver, Lara Thibodeau), said that, "Peer leading is a great way to get the freshmen used to high school. It really helps facilitate class bonding and gives the students a solid base for their next four years here." The annual "Freshman Walk" and periodic breakfasts help to cement a bond for the class of 2013 that will follow them through the next three years of high school.

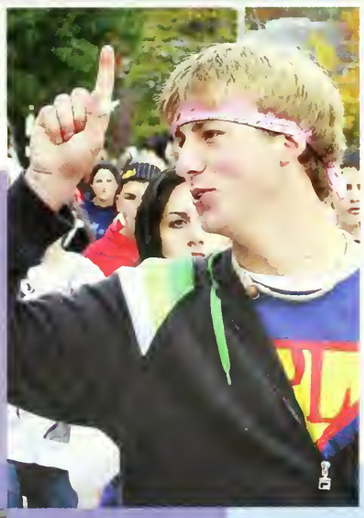




Orientation

The late summer sun is blaring as the athletic fields are filled with the freshman class and their respective peer leaders. Each year on the day preceding the official first day of school the freshman class arrives at Masco bright and early. They are welcomed by a cheering crowd of peer leaders who guide them through a day of games and inspirational speakers in an attempt to ease their transition into high school. The busy day culminates in a cookout and outdoor games.

Freshman Walk



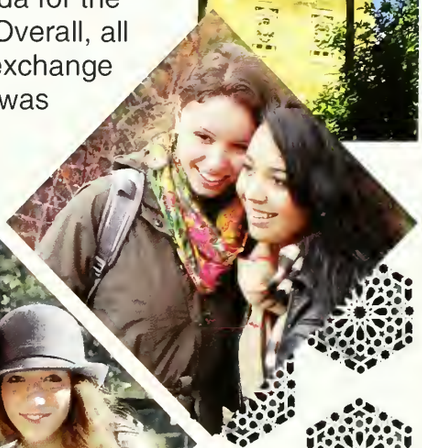
The Freshman Walk, more commonly known as "Masco in Motion," celebrated its twelfth year this fall. The walk is an annual event run by the peer leading program. Each year the freshman class raises money for a charity, chosen by the peer leading captains. The freshmen then walk six miles through Topsfield to commemorate their hard work and fundraising. Congrats to the class of 2014 who raised over $17,000 for Project Bread this October!

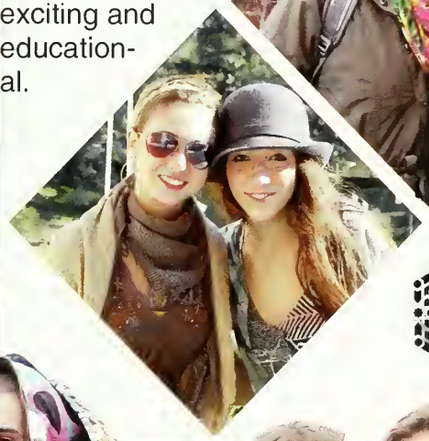
Each year, the Masconomet foreign language department hosts an exchange trip to France. Juniors and seniors who take French are permitted to apply for the program, which is typically comprised of around twenty students. Each American student is paired with a French "correspondent" who comes to the tri-town for two weeks at the end of October. Now senior Jenna O'Neil says that she "brought her girl to Newburyport, Boston, and Salem while she was here. I tried to show her what daily life of an American teen is like." After two fun-filled weeks with the Frenchies, the Americans said a tearful goodbye to their new French friends and waited for six long months to be reunited, this time in France. Senior Andrew Allyn says, "The six months were so worth the wait. I had the time of my life in France." The Americans spent the first couple of days in Paris, touring world famous monuments such as the Eiffel Tower, the Louvre, and the Musée d'Orsay. They then drove four hours outside Paris to Rennes where they were reunited with their French correspondents for a week and a half home stay. When asked how her overall experience in France was, senior Katie Moriarty said, "It was amazing. I experienced some of the most unforgettable times of my life. And to all those who went- I love cherries."

FRENCHexchange

SPANISH exchange

The 2010 Spanish Exchange embarked on a prolific journey through time and space to reach Spain's most beautiful cities. On this whirlwind adventure, 21 Masco students shared their lives with a group of students from Granada, making lasting friendships in the process. While in the Tri-Town, the Americans took their students to all of their favorite spots, including Fenway Park, classic American restaurants like McDonalds, and unique places like Laser Quest. A few months later, the Masco students visited Madrid for three days and then lived with their families in Granada for the next two weeks. Overall, all members of the exchange agree that Spain was an unforgettable experience, one that was both exciting and education-al.





Every fall, Masco students gather in the field house for an exciting day of games, competition, and spirit. The classes dress head to toe in their assigned colors, and battle it out with games like tug-of-war, musical chairs, office chair basketball, and egg roulette. At the end of the afternoon, the school treks to the football field to support the girls' football team. This year's seniors sported neon green shirts, rather than the traditional red, in memory of their classmate, Mike Doherty. They swept every category of the competition, and ended the day in a powderpuff victory.

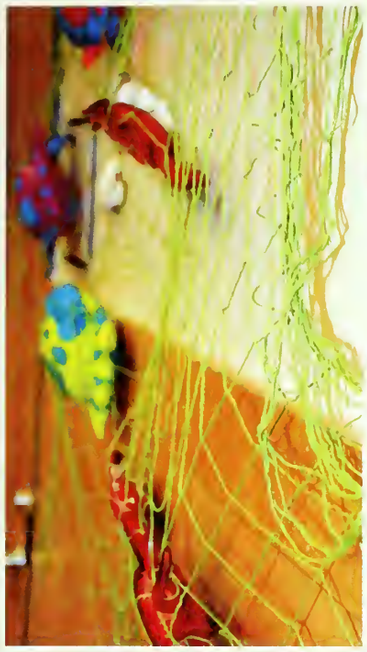
SPIRIT day

Freshmen Wild West



Seniors Outer Space

Sophomores Ocean

All of the frontiers made an appearance this year during the annual hall-decorating contest. As part of homecoming week, students from each class stayed late into the night to transform their hallways. The class of 2010 was given the difficult task of capturing the final frontier of Space. They turned advisor Señor Pierce into an alien and the House C office into a space shuttle to earn a third place finish. The juniors put exceptional effort into their replica of the jungle, which included a functioning waterfall with live fish. Close behind the juniors was the class of 2012, with their "Under the Sea" theme. The sophomores hung various ocean paraphernalia and gave away smoothies at their Tiki Bar/House office. In last place, the freshmen attempted to turn their hall into the Wild West by decorating posters and hay bails. The Chieftain spirit was felt across Masco and all four frontiers during one of the most enjoyable homecoming events.

Poised on the 18 Yard Line

You joined us on the goal line back in 1992
On a warm day in July when the sky was radiant blue.
Abounding with energy from the very start,
We knew right away that you had enormous heart.

As you march down the field of opportunity that awaits,
Be sure to show the world your most compelling traits.
Your integrity, strength and compassion will lead you to success
In all the ways that matter, so never settle for less.

Always stand up for what you believe and don't worry about the crowd.
The man you are becoming will forever make us proud!

To our son Cole,
There have been no surprises watching you grow into the person you are today. You have a gift of listening and learning. Absorbing knowledge with every step you take, and using it to its full capacity. You are a man of few words, but always powerful and meaningful when spoken. You take those big challenges with confidence. It is these characteristics that will set you apart and lead life paths. We can't ask for more in a son then what you have given us.
Keep your powerful character, your kind smile and the sparkle in your green eyes!
Love, Mom and Dad

These things, I warmly wish for you-

Someone to love,

Jeanette,

I hope you never lose your sense of wonder
You get your fill to eat
But always keep that hunger
May you never take one single breath for granted
God forbid love ever leave you empty handed
I hope you still feel small
When you stand by the ocean
Whenever one door closes, I hope one more opens
Promise me you'll give faith a fighting chance

And when you get the choice to sit it out or dance

I hope you dance ...

We Love You and are so very Proud of you!

A special thank you to the Class of 2010, as well as to the entire Masconomet community for all of the support I received from you during this past school year. On September 19th of 2009, just after the opening of the school year, my little brother Freddie passed away from pancreatic cancer. He had barely turned forty, and was diagnosed just ten months earlier. We were best friends growing up, and continued to be right until the end. Standing by his side as he battled that horrific disease was very hard for my family and myself, but nothing compared to what he was going through. All during that time, I felt the warm support of my students, fellow faculty and staff, administration, and the many friends I have made in the Masconomet community over these last eight years. My family and myself would like to thank all of you for your support and attendance at the services, as well as for all of the kind words, cards, emails, and understanding smiles we received from you during this difficult time. You are appreciated more than you will ever know.

Good Luck Class of 2010!

MOLLI "Hang Ten" McGee! From her humble beginnings as a "wee" surfer (photo #1) in pull-ups, to her current award winning style after doing pull-ups, Molli has followed her dream. Molli began her surfing career in New Jersey's warm waters and currently can be found practicing in the icy waters of North Hampton. Molli will be following her passion and talent for surfing in college with an intention to compete at the national level. So keep your eyes on the big waves Molli - follow your dreams and always remember: When you come from your heart, things will always work out as they are supposed to; worry never, ever changes anything; know that we are proud of you, you are always supported and very much loved, JenJen, Kathy & Kati

Steve---aka P-nut!

"That's it.....You're DONE!!!"

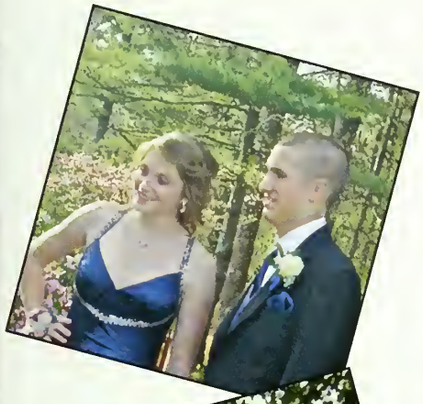
Ever think you'd be happy to hear us say that? Well, we hope you're happy, now and forever, because you're such a special person--the best son, a great brother, and a true friend.

You've successfully maneuvered every bunker in your life so far. We hope you continue to make wise choices, aim high, maintain focus, and give everything your best shot. You are destined to be a winner, not only at paintball but also at the game of life. Have fun as you play toward the goal of success.

Never lose your sense of humor....in the end you will be the one laughing!

We love you so much! Mom, Dad, Lauren and Teddy

Jenny Bartlett



The journey is over and what a wild ride it has been. You have done it your way the whole way. We are so very proud of you and all you have accomplished. You made some tough decisions along the way, we hope you know, we were always behind you. In the blink of an eye you have grown up.

The fun where do we start, from dance, soccer, field hockey and running, to shopping, ski trips, VIP and learning to drive all were adventures. You have great friends who have brought us a lot of enjoyment and laughter. BAGAK!! Only you would wear sneakers to your Junior Prom under that gorgeous dress. You were happy, you had fun and you did it your way.

You are now going into the world to make your life what you want. Life is full of adventures, take a little something from each one and hold on to it. We are always with you. This is your journey, you have made the most of it from Maine to China and a few places in between. Those Converse have gone "every step of the way" Remember the long and winding road always leads home, we love you.

Senior Picture Day

Senior April Fool's Day Prank

The Masconomet class of 2010 successfully altered history this year. They banned together and said in one unison voice "We will not go quetly into the night . We will not abide by your rules. We WILL NOT go to homeroom on time!"

On the morning of April 1st, a quiet Masconomet came alive. Students arrived via bus and car and waited for the seniors to play an April Fools prank of the rest of the school. Rumors of what exactly the seniors were planning had been circulating, but none other than the seniors themselves had any idea what was about to happen.

As the busses pulled into the school parking lot, seniors with parking permits did too. However unlike the unfortunate underclassmen crammed into the busses like sardines, the seniors did not enter the building. For the most part they did not even exit their cars. The few who did, merely gathered between cars to discuss the plan.

In the end, the result was spectacular. At 7:35 every senior departed their car and marched into the school where they set the record for the class with the highest homeroom tardiness record.

The tardy seniors were herded into the courtyard where they were spoken to by senior class advisor Senor Pierce and Mr. Czarnecki who informed them of their accomplishment.
